The school kitchens store and prepare foods containing wheat, eggs, dairy, fish, sesame, shellfish and soy. Our staff take great precautions in preventing cross contamination when preparing food for all students. Nutrition Services employees are not trained medical providers. Parents, guardians or licensed medical providers are the only persons that can determine if a child can or cannot eat a particular item. Ingredient statements on labels are available to be viewed by parents or guardians by making an appointment with the kitchen manager. Ingredients may change at any time without notice by the manufacturer.
