

Kyle Williams, MA

Adjunct Faculty

Email: kwilliams@georgefox.edu

I have worked in ministry for the past 12 years as a youth minister in Newberg. My work is primarily with students grades 6 to 12, focused on their spiritual growth in knowing Jesus as Lord. Integrating what God has taught me through my own life experiences and through my biblical and theological studies with the students is a passion of mine.

My time with George Fox University and Portland Seminary has been significantly transformative. My faith and view of the Church has expanded incredibly, and I have enjoyed engaging with the community at Fox. Finally, I also enjoy the change of pace that comes from working with university students and adults. I look forward to engaging in the material in the classroom with students as my way of giving back to the community that has abundantly blessed me.

Academic Background

- MA, Theological Studies, Portland Seminary
- BA, Christian Education, Harding University

Expertise and Interests

My Biblical and Theological studies have mostly emphasized the areas of church history, Gospels, and Greek. As a pastor for over 10 years, I especially enjoy integrating academia with church practice and personal living. I especially enjoy exploring practices – both in groups and individually – regarding spiritual formation and the transformation of the inner life.

Outside the Classroom

I am the kind of person who loves exploring new hobbies, and it's hard to settle on just one. In my spare time, I enjoy being outside doing all sorts of things, playing disc golf, tinkering with my PC, and working as a Challenge Course Facilitator out at Camp Yamhill. My wife works for GFU full-time, and we have a young daughter who is the joy of our lives. Together we enjoy traveling to new places, fumbling through our garden, and spending time together as a family.