Subject Line: How to Escape the Rat Race

If you look in the mirror, where do you see yourself in 10 years if you keep working your current job?

Will you have a great salary, financial freedom, and be able to kick your feet up after work?

The answer is NO.

There is no 9-5 job in the world that allows for locational freedom unless you alone make change.

Change won't occur from a boss dangling chump change in front of you like a piece of cheese for a mouse.

In truth, that piece of cheese will always be there.

But it is only a fraction of what you will get paid if you learn how money works.
