

Echo Graduate Service Program at the University of Notre Dame

Greetings! My name is Scott Boyle and I represent the Echo Graduate Service Program at the University of Notre Dame. I am looking for our next cohort of dynamic young adults who will come together to learn, serve, and lead in Catholic parishes & schools in dioceses across the United States.

Here's a little more context: Echo is a two-year postgraduate service opportunity that invites young adults to serve in full-time ministry in Catholic parishes or teach theology in Catholic middle schools or high schools in one of Echo's partner dioceses while living in community. Echo students concurrently work toward a tuition-free Master of Arts in Theology at the University of Notre Dame during the summers. You have the full resources of the University at your disposal including access to the University's best theological educators and formators. You will receive a generous yearly stipend, health insurance, free housing and utilities (both on-campus and off) and an educational allowance in support of your work and formation. Seniors are eligible to apply and we also have early admission opportunities for juniors.

In Echo, you will ask essential questions...questions that probe not just what you will do with your life, but the person you will become. We are looking to form innovative Catholic leaders...not just people who will serve the Church formally, but men and women who will take what they've learned and lead in medicine, law, publishing, counseling, and social work (to name a few areas!).

Questions? Interested in learning more? I'd love to have an opportunity to meet with you. You can schedule a meeting with me here. Drop me a line at sboyle2@nd.edu if none of those times work or if you have any other questions! If you use social media, check us out at @EchoNotreDame on Instagram and Facebook. This is where we post features and more information about Echo for the benefit of your discernment in addition to our website.
