

Department of Botany

Faculty of Life Sciences , IGU Meerpur

The Department of Botany was established in August 2016 under the Faculty of Life Sciences , Indira Gandhi University Meerpur. Presently, the Department offers M.Sc. Botany Course (2 years, 40 Seats). Further details about the admissions are available in the Information Brochures available at the link:

Vision

We are committed to educate the students beyond the confines of a classroom to make them better individuals and develop their scientific temperament regarding the importance of plants for taking care of environment and health issues and enabling them to face the challenges like climate Change, Global Warming and Energy Crisis of the modern world.

Mission

- Impart quality education in the field of plant sciences.
- To educate students towards the importance and need for conserving natural resources specially by protecting Biodiversity, endangered plant species and ultimately achieving the goals of Sustainable development for saving the mother earth.
- To know the importance and scope of the Botanical world.
- To develop a scientific attitude to make students open minded, critical and curious.
- To make them aware of natural resources and their judicious use while meeting the present needs and handing over them to the next generation in an intact form.