

Subject - The secret strategy all the big companies use to dominate

Hi Austin,

I like the content you upload as it helps beginners build muscle through your calisthenics workout programs and you also help people improve their social skills when they become a patron member.

I came up with three secret formulas after analyzing what the top players in the calisthenics field do to drive more customers to purchase their product.

One of my ideas is to add a quiz when people first arrive on your website to tailor a workout program specific to their needs.

This will attract and retain more customers as they get exactly what they need.

Here's a sample of what I wrote for your bodyweight training program.

SL - The easiest way to build muscle without going to the gym

There is a reason why certain people can build muscle rapidly.

It's not magic, not raw IQ, not luck.

It's because they follow a specific workout program tailored to their body.

Click here to discover the best program for you

If you like what you see,

Then we can schedule a Zoom call next week to dive into the details of the quiz and the other ideas I have for you.

Best regards,
Ved

