

Anne Palmer

Biography: Anne Palmer is the Director, Audience Development Practice | ArtsKC-Regional Arts Council. Prior to joining ArtsKC, Anne spent 25 years serving in various aspects of higher education. With a Doctor of Musical Arts degree from Arizona State University she spent the majority of her career as a professional singer and university faculty member. Through her own experience with profound hearing loss, Anne learned to redirect her unique ability to connect with others into leadership coaching and creating programs that develop personal and professional growth. She now draws from personal and professional expertise when helping others navigate their own career and life changes.
