

1. Methods for studying the functional state of the body by the functional tests, the types of functional tests, the main tasks of the functional test.
2. Analysis of the results of a comprehensive medical examination. Medical conclusion.
3. Prepathological and pathological conditions that occur when inadequate physical activity, the means for their prevention and emergency care.
4. Diagram of the functional examination of soft tissue and muscle, located in the maxillofacial area. Diagnostic exercise and test systems for detecting the degree of functional disorders of the teeth-jaw system.
5. Basic and additional physical therapy, their characteristics, forms and methods of physical therapy.
6. Periods of physical therapy and physical activity regimes dental patients at different stages of rehabilitation treatment.
7. Types of special exercises, which are used for patients with dental profile, the concept of breathing and sound exercises.
8. Indication for physical therapy of the PR and the dental clinic.
9. Contraindications to physical therapy patients dental profile.
10. Indications and contraindications regarding use of therapeutic massage dental patient profile.