

Hi, I'm Syren and I'm the creator of this playlist for At Your Own Risk. This fic will be part of my favorites of all time cause it's so good. While at work on break, I was bored and thought about making a playlist for this fic and it's an honor Jeeja wants to use it to enhance others' experience reading! So, here's some song choice explanation and a general guide to the playlist

•☆Link☆•

—— " ☆★Chapter 1: Impulses★☆ " ——

1. Night Market by Concerned Ape from Stardew Valley
(This one doesn't really have that much of a complex explanation as its partner. The title fits the first chapter and the general melody gives off late autumn/winter vibes which is the season this story begins in. Also, I love that this track also gives off a flicker of hope as well in a way.)
2. My Heart and Light by The 1999 from Reverse 1999
(If you're a Reverse 1999 player and know the context behind this song, I'm sorry for reigniting the angst of chapter 10. If you're not then I chose this song because despite its very somber instrumental, the lyrics give a sense of comfort and distant hope. This song reflects how much Edmond and Darius have been through at this point yet they're still standing strong with Eiden being the light they've been needing. It also is a lullaby in the game and with later context, it will hurt even more when you realize what character POV this song could also rep.)

—— " ☆★Chapter 2: Instinct★☆ " ——

1. Snowy by Toby Fox from Undertale (You guessed it: more winter vibes! Though, this track carries more of a curious and lighter vibe compared to the first instrumental which is fitting since everyone is still trying to adjust to the new additions.
2. I've Never Been In Love Before by Laufey (Is this the love at first sight song for Eiden? Yes, yes it is, this man is down BAD. The lyrics fit his reaction so perfectly from "Now at all once it's you; It's you forevermore" of the general realization to the past justifications of why he thought he wasn't going to get attached "I thought my heart was safe; I thought I knew the score". He's lovestruck now and there's no hook that can pull him out.)

—— " ☆☆Chapter 3: Healing ☆☆ " ——

1. Frozen Echoes from Nu:Carnival (It's the Edmond focused chapter so it gets one of the Edmond events of all time's main theme)
2. Ray of Melody: Edmond ver. from Nu:Carnival (Once again, Edmond focused chapter needs Edmond focused song and what's not better than his own event song solo)

—— " ☆☆Chapter 4: Needs☆☆ " ——

1. The Road Not Taken - Instrumental by Hoyo-MiX from Genshin Impact (A bittersweet yet bright track fitting as this is the chapter where Darius does awake. It does still have a sense of somberness considering Darius' emotions and both rabbits yearning for home.)
2. Isabella's Lullaby by Amalee from The Promised Neverland (The title literally says it but I like to imagine this as a lullaby both Edmond and Darius had sung to them by their mothers in the village and now it's a poignant reminder of where they are now. Plus, there's the slightest hints of Eiden angst with accepting the reality that the rabbits will leave but he has them right now at least.)

—— " ☆☆Chapter 5: Honor☆☆ " ——

1. Phosphophyllite by Yoshiaki Fujisawa from The Land of The Lustrous (~~POV: You're still waiting for season 2~~ A little inspiring and sparkling melody to introduce spring into the story and bring a bit of lightheartedness into the playlist. Especially considering the next chapter)
2. Ambivalent by Uru from The Apothecary Diaries (I need you to look up the lyrics and read them from Eiden's perspective on Edmond because it fits him so well at this point of the story. He loves Edmond for being Edmond though he can't say that out loud for now ;))

—— " ☆☆Chapter 6: Dangers☆☆ " ——

1. Merry Christmas Mr. Lawrence by Ryuichi Sakamoto from Merry Christmas Mr. Lawrence (This is one of my favorite instrumentals of all time and it straight up sounds like an anthem of freedom and struggle which fits this chapter perfectly. The somewhat somber beginning going to a triumphant beat, it's perfect)

2. KILL THE LORD by Nien ft. Whitney Sol from Nikke: Goddess of Victory (This song sounds like a jailbreak song and the lyrics match Edmond's perspective so much for this chapter. Go be the liberator you deserve and don't let the pain hold you back)

-`.,*././\`-`

—— “ ☆Chapter 7: Promises☆ ” ——

1. Blue Moon by Seychara Orchestral (A relaxing smooth jazz song that fits the vibe of this chapter: Sexy and sweet ;))
2. Rabbit Hole ft. Hatsune Miku by Deco*27 (I mean, the title explains itself (͡° ͜ʖ ͡°). Also, this was one of the first songs that came to mind for this fic and chapter 7 specifically so yeah. RIP Eiden's pelvis 🙄🙏)

-`.,*././\`-`

—— “ ☆Chapter 8: Journeys☆ ” ——

1. One Last Adventure by Evan Call from Frieren: Beyond Journey's End (A fitting song for the chapter where the main plot is the adventure that's building up for our rabbits to return home. There's also a bit of a melancholic feel with bitter acceptance in this song that fits with Eiden and Edmond in the end as they've made it here.)
2. The Road Home to You by Bank of Innovation from Memento Mori (I recommend you go and just listen to the whole Memento Mori soundtrack afterwards because it's so damn good. But, this song was mainly chosen for its lyrics that fit Darius and Edmond finally returning home even through all their trials and tribulations.)

-`.,*././\`-`

—— “ ☆*Chapter 9: Decisions *☆ ” ——

1. lit(var) by Kensuke Ushio from A Silent Voice (Yes, this movie and theme will always reduce me to tears. But, I felt this fit the fic since it's the conclusion and finally both parties' feelings are revealed with a new future ahead of them just like the ending for Shoya and Shoko in A Silent Voice.)
2. 642 ways by Seychara Orchestral (A tender and powerful love song fitting the essence of nature and the love our main couple has for each other. ~~Also, the title could refer to the amount of kids they'll have;~~

-`.,*././\`-`

But thank you for listening to the playlist and support the lovely author of this work,
Jeejaschocolate :D

-Syren

