Q	Q	Q	Q	Qs
What is a green stance on international trade? (typical of the Green party)	What is a blue stance on international trade? (typical of the Democratic party)	What is a Republican party typical stance on international trade? (typical of the Republican party)	What is a yellow stance on international trade? (typical of the Libertarian party)	about money policy • Hedge funds and other speculative Wall Street financial firms reportedly take stakes in drug companies and then force major price increases on life-saving drugs. One anti-regulation approach to affordable pharmaceuticals would be legalizing imported drugs from Canada. One pro-regulation approach would be legal measures to prevent price gouging. Would either work? What would be the economic and social consequences of either approach? • With increased transparency and decreased rule of law, would people do right based on social pressure if business and financial regulations were removed?
A	A	A	A
foreign trade • fair trade = protects workers and resources from exploitation, upholds environmental standards • no NAFTA, GATT, WTO • focus on use of local resources	foreign trade • support free trade with fairness safeguards	foreign trade • protect free trade • minimal regulation = avoid business red tape & costly oversight	foreign trade • protect free trade • zero tariffs or barriers • no regulation	