

REFERENCES

Census Bureau: This site provides demographic data about the people in your community.

Bureau of Labor Statistics: This site provides data about employment rates and other economic conditions in your community.

USASpending.gov: Provides data on federal spending, which can be useful for financial analysis.

Federal Communications Commission (FCC): Provides information on the regulatory framework for communications, which can be useful for understanding the legal framework and operational framework.

Environmental Protection Agency (EPA): Provides information on environmental regulations and initiatives, which can be useful for policy analysis and infrastructure analysis.

Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA): Provides information on disaster response and recovery, which can be useful for understanding public safety measures and service provision.

Government Law

<https://www.law.cornell.edu/wex/category/government>

Government

<https://www.law.cornell.edu/wex/government>

Local Government Law

https://www.law.cornell.edu/wex/category/local_governmental_law

Local Governments

https://www.law.cornell.edu/wex/local_government_law

Each State Documents, Laws & Constitutions

<https://www.law.cornell.edu/states/listing>

Official City Site

<http://officialcitysites.org/>

U.S Constitution

<https://www.law.cornell.edu/constitution>

Statutes by Topic

https://www.law.cornell.edu/wex/state_statutes

Contact Elected Officials

<https://www.usa.gov/elected-officials>

Local Government Contact Info By State

<https://www.usa.gov/local-governments>

State Attorney Generals

<https://www.usa.gov/state-attorney-general>

Bill of Rights

<https://www.law.cornell.edu/constitution/billofrights>