

Outreach(third draft)

Hello,

I hope this message finds you well. My name is Areez.

I've been following your business closely within the last couple of days.

I really liked your contact system you have in place and things like this can help bring the client closer to the product and build a rapport with the business, creating valuable clients, why I admire this feature.

Now today, as much as your contact system is good, following an intense full analysis of your business I've recognised a complication in your social media advertisement.

I believe and what any other professional or business would realise and act against straight away.

This complication is amplifying other businesses ahead of yours and making their product look better than yours.

A focus on social media marketing would boost audience, consumers and reach further than your current audience and would boost you ahead of competitors.

Such as platforms like Instagram can be refined to be even more compelling to your audience.

This project could be the difference between letting your audience buy from you. Or by putting their money in someone else's pocket.

If you wish to find out more about the project then contact me and we can arrange a call to discuss the issue and resolve it.

Best regards,

Areez
