

Practice: Creating a Reference list in APA style (2010)

For this exercise, students do not need to recognize the citation style, but they are asked to change the references into the APA format. Students are allowed to use library search engines and other web tools.

1) Journal article

Batane, Tshepo. "Turning to Turnitin to Fight Plagiarism among University Students." Journal of Educational Technology & Society 13.2 (2010): 1-12.

→ MLA

APA style:

Batane, T. (2010). Turning to Turnitin to Fight Plagiarism among University Students. Journal of Educational Technology & Society, 13 (2), 1-12.

2) Journal article

Segal S, Gelfand B, Hurwitz S, Berkowitz L, Ashley S, Katz J, et al. Plagiarism in Residency Application Essays. Annals of Internal Medicine [serial on the Internet]. (2010, July 20), [cited February 26, 2011]; 153(2): 112-W.44.

→ Vancouver/ICMGE

APA style:

Segal, S., Gelfand, B. J., Hurwitz, S., Berkowitz, L., Ashley, S. W., Nadel, E. S., & Katz, J. T. (2010). Plagiarism in Residency Application Essays. Annals of Internal Medicine, 153 (2), 112-W.44.

3) Book

Randall, Marilyn. Pragmatic Plagiarism: Authorship, Profit, And Power. Toronto : University Of Toronto Press, 2001.

→ MLA

APA style:

Randall, M. (2001). Pragmatic plagiarism: authorship, profit, and power. Toronto; University of Toronto Press.

4) Newspaper article

Louise, J 2011, 'Thompson fights plagiarism claim over new screenplay', Evening Standard, 9 February, Newspaper Source. p.3.

→ Harvard

APA style:

Louise, J. (2011, February 9). Thompson fights plagiarism claim over new screenplay. Evening Standard. p. 3.