

City Social (formerly Stuy Social)

The New York City Youth Network

About City Youth Network

The New York City Youth Network is a student-run organization dedicated to empowering New York City youth and their families through a diverse array of educational, social, and environmental initiatives.

The Program

City Social, formerly known as Stuy Social until July 2024, is dedicated to making a difference while also providing NYC youth a blast! Through partnerships with entertainment venues and other organizations, City Social provides spaces for high school students to hang out while donating extra proceeds to charity. In our original words, “we’re not just all about fun—we’re also about making an impact.”

CYN Leadership

Roy Zhang, Co-Founder and President

Caleb Lee, Co-Founder and Managing Partner

City Social Program Team

Roy Zhang, Founder & Executive Director

OUR VISION

1. Partnerships with Entertainment Venues & Events

We partner with entertainment venues across the city to offer discounts for groups. We also partner with organizations to promote events.

2. Hangout Events

We provide discounted spaces for high school students to hang out.

3. Donations!

We donate extra proceeds to charitable organizations.

OUR IMPACT (updated 09/03/2024)

7 Events Hosted

174 Participants

$1,500 Donated to Charitable Organizations

OUR FINANCES (updated 09/03/2024)

$3,016 in Total Revenue (Events + Roy)

$2,443 Raised from Events

$573 Given by Roy

$2,951 in Total Expenses

$1,500 Donated to Charitable Organizations

$1,071 in Event Expenses

$380 Used for Club Advertising