

Newsletter #7

Greetings inner circle!

Well... there's an important announcement to make... I have news... the end is coming.....

....to get your VENDED tickets of course!

Our show with VENDED is coming up on the 12th. That's 4 days!!

Doors are at 7pm. The earlier you are, the closer you can be to the stage for the whole show. We'd love to see you going crazy in the front row! We will be playing some ol' classics and some new songs too.

Get your tickets here:

<https://motorcomusic.com/event/vended/>

Thanks to everyone so far who has participated in the new Spotlight series questionnaire! Our exciting new series puts other artists and artists' gear in the spotlight.

We are all about supporting our community of fellow musicians and want to give everyone a chance to get their names out there.

Public safety tip: seems like everyone is getting the cold right now, so be sure to keep yourself taken care of.

We are working on new material, and we are excited about how our journey has shaped and developed our signature sound. Thanks for being part of our journey. It is only the beginning!

Is mayonnaise an instrument?

...we're not sure, but here's the album of the week!

Hunter's Album Of The Week:

Masters of Reality

Masters of Reality

"No, not Black Sabbath. Masters of Reality is one of my favorite bands of all time. I can't believe this album came out in 1988; it was way ahead of its time. The sound production of it is amazing, and it has unique melodies and vocals. I hope to one day be able to see them live."

Favorite songs:

- Domino
- Doraldina's Prophecies
- The Candy Song
- The Blue Garden

Listen:

https://youtube.com/playlist?list=OLAK5uy_m1CJzKylfhyRGKrUZOpa7FNhBlvvy41Fc&si=YPLRZwlnqTufBbQ1

-No Falkes Given Inner Circle