

Good afternoon <>,

I know you're probably busy crafting new health equipment,

But I thought I'd run this by you,

It's a proposal I think you'd be interested in

I was looking at your website and I have a few marketing ideas I'm confident could help you guys scale,

You have a wholesome, authentic line of products I can get behind,

To show how confident I am,

I want to offer a two-week trial period where I work with you to try to increase site engagement and overall sales.

You would have complete control over what ideas are implemented. If at the end of the two weeks it seems like a good fit,

We can work on some more ways I could bring value to your brand,

But if not, I'll deliver the project and be out of your hair :),

If you're open to the idea, let me know and we can have a quick chat about it.

Best,

