

An open letter about TheresNoSteak

Hello. My name is Andrew. As most of you know I go by Nocturna in the FNaF community.

For years I have had to endure continued harassment and slander by TheresNoSteak/QuaintQuail and her inner circle. I hadn't spoken up sooner out of fear that she may have retaliated with more baseless slander, as per previous experiences with her. Today, in light of certain recent events, I will finally be breaking my silence.

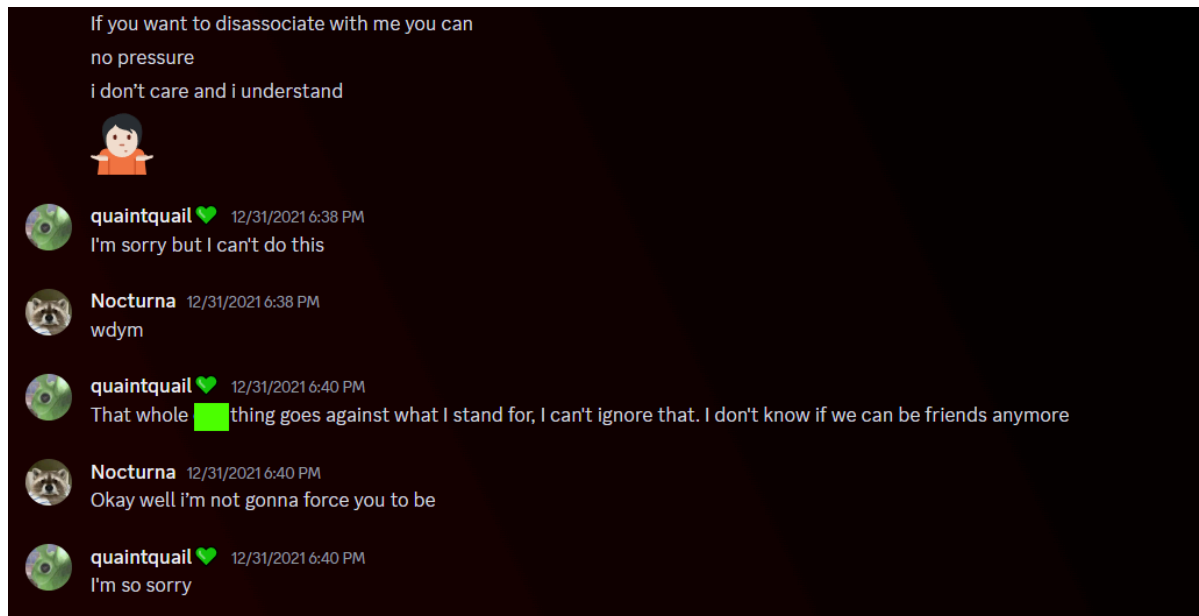

In 2021, I used to be very close friends with Steak. During this time she worked on many Radiance-related projects, most notably the (now-canceled) Welcome to Tubbyland and Oblitus Casa. I brought her onto the team briefly when WTTL began development as I felt the game "wouldn't have been a 'Tubbyland' game without her." This working relationship went quite well, and our relationship was friendly even after the project was canceled, even remaining friends for some time after. She even helped work on some stuff for Casa.

Later in the year, she confronted me after a past partner leaked personal messages I had with them. My past relationship at that time had a very small (we were only a few months apart) age gap, with me being 18 and the other person being 17. During this relationship, I had engaged in sexual activities, but they were encouraged by the other person and I was led to believe there was no issue. This person was then pressured to leak our conversations by an unknown party. These messages were then sent to Steak, and she proceeded to question my private sexual activities in our direct messages.

After a long talk, Steak informed me that she was not comfortable with being friends with me anymore. Understanding her issue, I let her go and we parted ways peacefully. I thought that would be the last I would hear from her.

Sometime after this happened, despite the impression that we were on neutral terms, Steak took to the Freddit Discord to attack me and the Radiance team. Claiming we had "used her for our gain" among other things. In response to this, I fired back and made fun of her and her personal projects. While this wasn't the most mature thing to do, she clearly did not want to handle whatever issue she had with me civilly, so I did not handle it that way.

As a result of this constant back and forth, Steak then went on to tell people that me and my group of friends were "Stalking" and "Harassing" her & several friends, even though her comments on us were completely public and sent to me. She further retaliated by creating "IAmEgg" which was an X (Twitter) account that hosted a Twitlonger along with a zip that intended to "expose" me and Radiance. IAmEgg projected to thousands of people that my team was full of intolerant people and that I was a rapist and pedophile. In the process of this, she outed private personal information about my team members and others in the community, such as gender identity, names, faces, etc. Below are screenshots she shared with X, now censored for safety.

The former Radiance member who leaked these screenshots, Martin Arthur (who was a minor at the time), was manipulated by Steak into screenshotting our private server.

martin Today at 10:10 PM

It's a really blurry memory because like I said I really tried my best to block it out, It was like the worst experience, but she used me despite knowing I wasn't doing well, and It felt so shit that I don't have anything else that comes near to it

I can't remember much, I hope what I said helps even if it's a bit

While me and Radiance worked to fight against these ridiculous claims, for the longest time people were against us and I was attacked constantly. I pretty much considered my online career ruined by her slander until we finally did a response that was noticed by the community. Our response to the situation is currently unlisted, but you can watch it here.

Steak has acknowledged her actions resulted in personal info being leaked to the public, that it damaged her relationships with many people, and that it was overall just the wrong thing to do. Despite this, nobody hurt by these messages has received any public or private apology.

theresnosteak Today at 11:26

Dude I think I fucked up with this (edited)

It's starting to really kick in how unorganized this whole thing was, there's even screenshots that didn't even need to be there

And me and Fazie's deadnames are now public knowledge, god knows what people can do with that

This was supposed to make things better but it ended up just making things so much worse

Radiance won

This is my fault, it was my idea

theresnosteak Today at 11:28

I just ruined my friendship with Fazie over a mistake, this keeps happening this year
I don't know what to do now

We can't just delete the post, what's done is done

Despite the damage she had caused herself, I expressed I would be willing to make amends via a public announcement. This was sent to Steak, and she essentially ignored me.

theresnosteak Today at 16:56

Delete it, I'm not reading it

I refuse to, I'm moving on

I do not want to see anything else from or about them, this is what everyone else has advised me and this is what my mom told me to do

They're trolls, fear mongers (edited)

Since then, Steak has pretty much retreated into a mental bubble where she refuses to admit any wrongdoing to me or my friends. She has gone as far as to remove and block anyone who brings us up and surrounds herself only with people who agree with her way of thinking.

theresnosteak boost Today at 11:20 PM

@everyone Hey, making a small announcement about this since we've noticed a surge of this lately and it's really bothering me as well as the other staff members.

We'd appreciate it if you all just avoided mentioning Radiance and their games altogether, for those who don't know a bunch of members on that team as well as the team leader have been harassing me for years, even to the point of arguably stalking me sometimes, and I'd prefer to just not discuss them at all.

If you have a problem with it, get over it. This is not something I will tolerate, I don't want to give those creeps any more attention than I have in the past and y'all shouldn't either. If you choose to actively support them and their games that's your issue, but keep it the fuck out of here. Thank you.

behaviors in such a long while im not defending it though

theresnosteak boost Today at 11:43 PM

I don't believe that since if I remember correctly he was involved in spreading my private accounts around the community recently

Unkren Studios Today at 11:45 PM
really?

theresnosteak boost Today at 11:45 PM

that's what I heard, I know Radiance overall was involved and as far as I remember he was involved with that too

Unkren Studios Today at 11:46 PM
we weren't involved with that no

#1 Trans Ally RED Today at 11:49 PM

That always bothered me, after everything they put you through they had the audacity to act like they didn't do anything and you where wrong for not liking them

V-LONE WARRIOR Today at 11:51 PM

jimmy has been beamed off the earth's surface man (edited)

@Unkren Studios hey bud

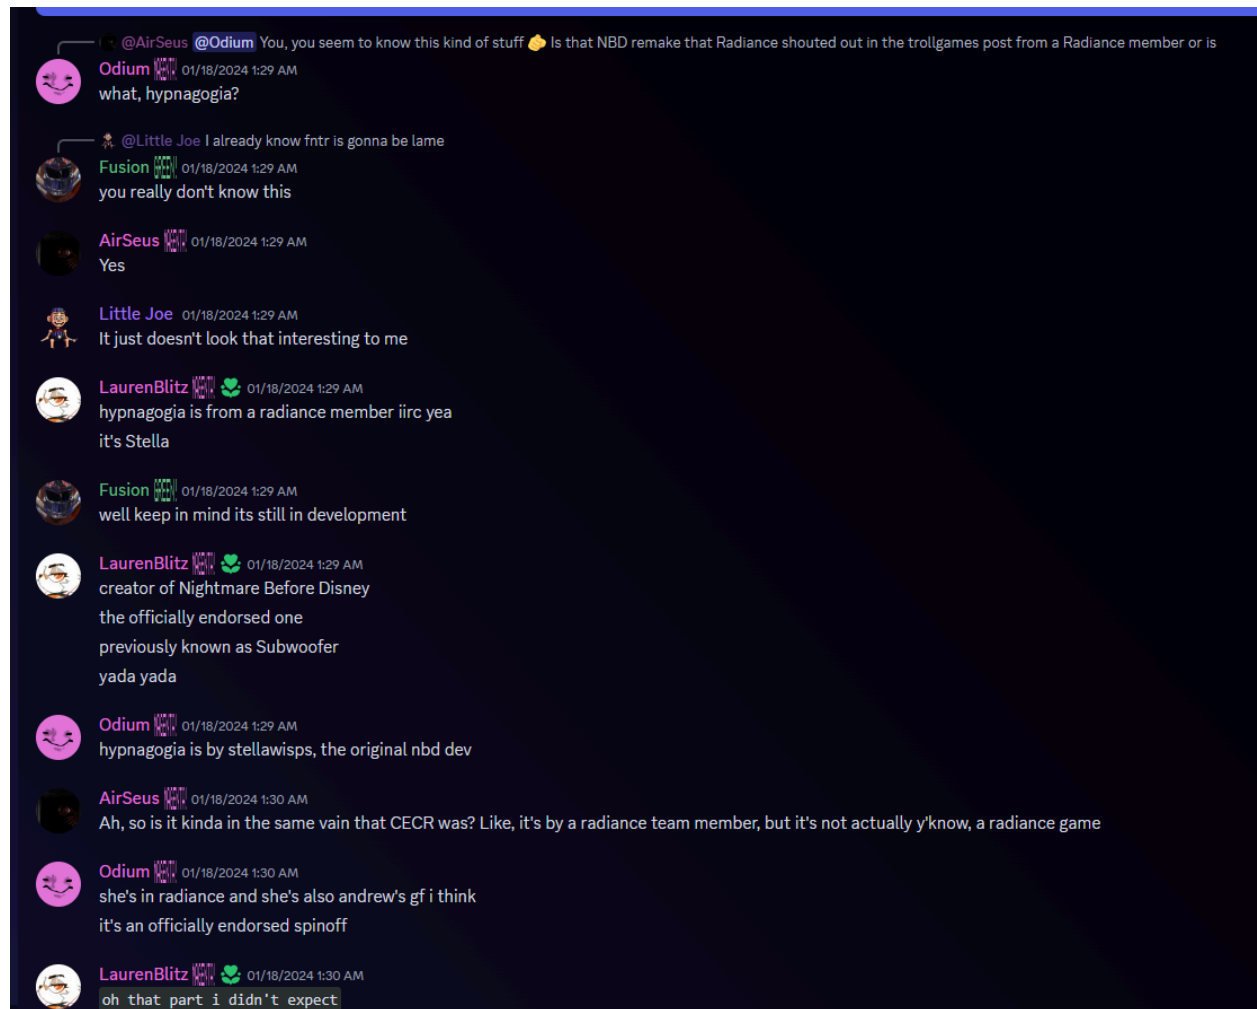

Many people continue to talk and work with her in fear of retaliation similar to what she has done to me. She continues to spread the idea that I stalk her among other ridiculous claims. I am commonly labeled as a "transphobe" by her and her friends, and her community continuously downplays my status as a genderfluid individual.

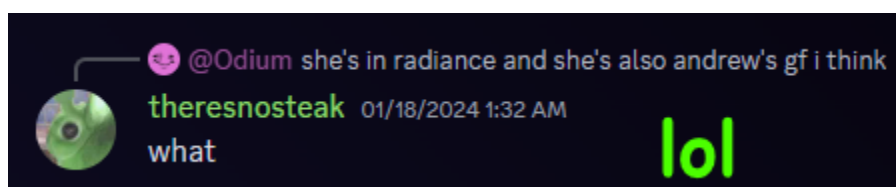

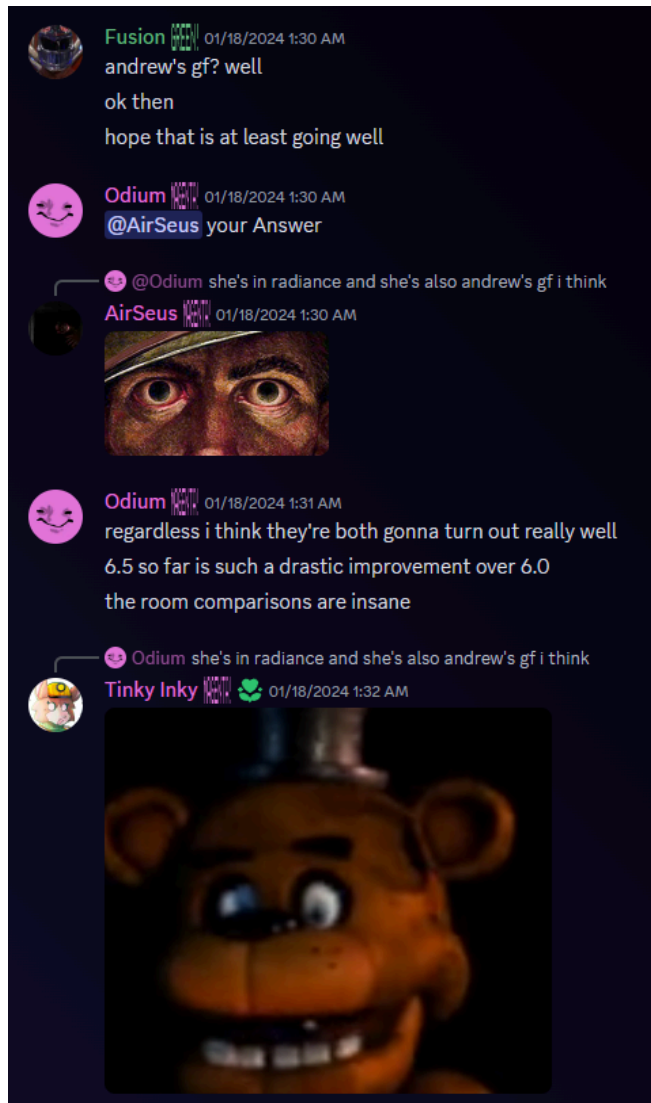

I have been informed by inside sources that she apparently has claimed that I am "faking it" when it comes to being genderfluid as well, however, I do not have a screenshot for this since she commonly deletes her private inside servers every time anything drama-related (most of which is completely caused by her self-destructive behavior) happens to her.

Recently, it seems Steak has self-diagnosed herself with Dissociative Identity Disorder. Unsurprisingly, very few people have publicly questioned her regarding this. She has even gone as far as to claim she now has multiple names. I am not well-informed on this topic, so I do not feel comfortable speaking on it myself. However, PoisonousPastels (a former close friend of Steak) has made a long detailed thread on the situation, which I urge you all to read here.

Despite her commonly bringing me up, I have decided to keep my side of this quiet until now. Why you may ask? Because Steak and her friends have decided to bring my girlfriend of 3 years, StellaWisps, into the picture.

Soon after Steak and her friend LaurenBlitz (who is well known for being the person who constantly calls me “mentally ill”) found out about Stella, they proceeded to add her as a friend on Discord at the same time and express somewhat flirtatious behavior.

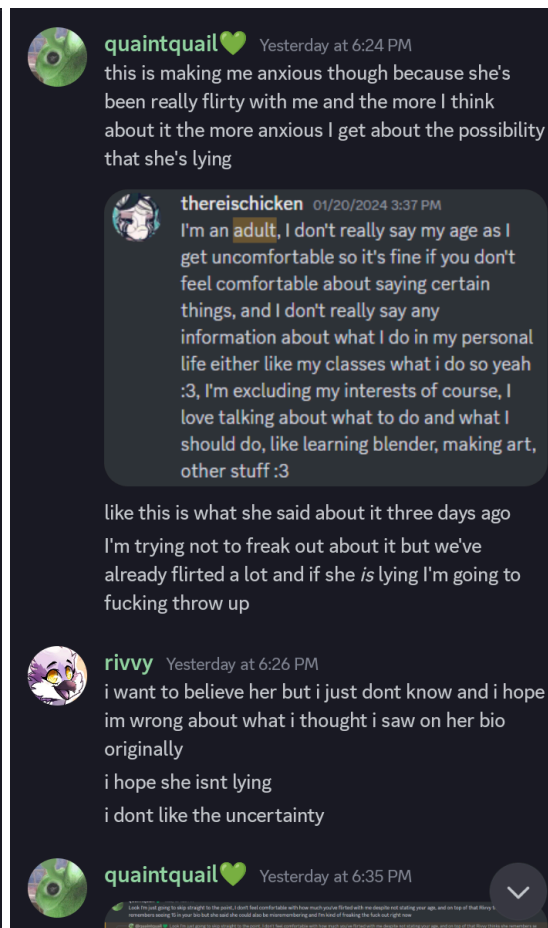

I had initially shrugged this off as it could just be the way they type, but this was soon proven to not be the case. Shockingly, it seems Steak runs a server with her close friends where they send nude pictures and porn to each other. While I do not necessarily care about this, a line was crossed when I was informed they were considering getting my girlfriend involved with it, IMMEDIATELY after contacting her, despite knowing she is in a relationship with me.

Even more concerning is that Steak is seemingly not age-checking the people she flirts around and invites to this server, as she recently had a small breakdown over a member she was flirting with and invited to the server.

Steak is clearly a mentally unwell and troubled individual who sabotages friendships and relationships to get her way and doesn't pay much mind to who it hurts if it means squashing petty online beef. They are a danger to this community and a massive loose cannon, and as bad as the behavior outlined here may seem I guarantee you she has probably done just as bad things to others that we just don't know about or have evidence for. I'm not much for "cancellation" attempts but this is an unwell individual who does not need the platform or enabling they receive. I've only returned to the LiamCrush account to post this as a PSA to all of you, and I hope readers take this all into account before supporting Steak and such.

