

Disclaimer: THIS IS SFW PORN NOT ART ALL CHARACTERS ARE FICTIOUS (English must be your first language, people on the spectrum need not apply)

I hire people to do situational fanfics in which a certain selection of characters from what ever series is picked from the list are placed in a situation where they are without food and hungry sometimes I like to mix vore, stuffing and weight gain with starvation

when writing the story these 3 rule must be followed every 2 to 3 sentences from the very beginning for comics it must be followed in as many panels per page as possible

1. These three actions must always be done together and in the same sentence

Stomach makes noise

Character rubs/pats/holds/points at stomach

Character complains of hunger

2. The word stomach tummy belly or gut must be in every hunger complaint dialogue

3. Regarding fanfictions the dialogue must be shaped around each characters personality and mannerisms while still following the previous 2 rules

The most important thing when writing a story for me is that these rules be followed

I also do original characters (oc's)

(Note if you are uncomfortable working with characters under 18 you may age them up)

Let me state that the 2 rules have to be followed every 3 sentences or you can take what I call the premium deal where you follow ths rules every sentence for the majority of the story in exchange for an extra 20$, I am also willing to plot out every thing that happens in the story if asked

The rules are non negotiable also the word count must be at least 7000 unless more or less is specifically asked the 7000 minimum word count is non negotiable ;also combinations/crossovers between two or more shows is acceptable, also upon agreement you are expected to complete assign ment in a timely manner, pay is whatever you want within reason, will pay extra to those willing to do research/watch episodes on subjects they dont know about

Here are suggestions on the ways they complain about their hunger I'm sure you'll find them useful

- how empty their tummies feel
- how their tummies are on empty and/or are out of fuel
- how their empty bellies need food

-use words of emotion to describe the hunger in their tummies (example having a character saying her tummy is unhappy)

-how their stomachs are growling rumbling or grumbliing

-how they're wasting away

-how their tummies are talking yelling screaming etc for food

--how their tummies are saying things like feed me me

-how their stomachs are eating/digesting themselves

-how they're dying of hunger

-how the hunger is destroying their bodies (ie making their muscles flabby, making their bellies bloated etc.)

- how there's a rumble growl etc. in their tummies

You can also have them talk to their tummies, comment on how they can hear their stomachs growling and ask other characters if they hear their stomachs

-also have the characters yell lines about how hungry they are in unison

-you can also have the characters describe their hunger using one worded sentences or broken english to show how the hunger is affecting them mentally

Also write out the noises their stomachs make, and do not have the characters make complaints about stomach pains

Also have the characters in as much misery, agony and suffering from starvation as possible

Additionally I will need to see the story as it's being written so it will need to be written in google docs and the writer must be able to type 300 words every 15 minutes a writing session
