Character Stats

You receive 74 points to distribute amongst these stats.
You don't have to use all of them, though if you want more later your character will have to earn them through quests, or buy items to increase their stats.

Your characters build and their history may influence the final stats - but we won't take away the points you distributed, of course. These are YOURS!

- A single stat cannot exceed 15 in the beginning. (before additions based on your history and etc)
- A single stat will not likely be under 4, unless a good reason is provided. (Luck Excluded)
- The stat "Luck" will be locked from level up stat bonuses, and will only be able to be changed with special items and circumstances.

We will warn you if something important may be difficult in the campaign, to hopefully save you any future frustration.

There are three other questions that affect your base stats, all you'll have to do is rate your character on these three questions

How hard is it to down your character?

How easy is it to hurt your character?

How much can your character handle mentally?
