

Welcome to the make-up lesson doc!

As a reminder, I charge lessons tuition-style, which means that I reserve your time slot each week whether you can make it or not. Because of this, make-ups are not guaranteed and because my studio is almost fully booked, the only way I can do make-ups is by scheduling them in other student's time slots when they cannot make it to their lessons. This doc was created to alert students and families to the open time slots created by cancellations.

When you need to cancel your lesson, please notify me as soon as you know and enter the empty time slot into this document with the open lesson date, day of the week, lesson duration, and time.

If you have canceled your lesson and would like a make-up time slot, please write your name next to the open time slot you would like to take. Once I see that you have done this, I will email you to confirm the make up time and erase the open time from the document.

No-Shows/Students that forget about their lesson will not receive a make up. I will check this document every business day to update it with new make up times and to confirm make-up lessons. Sometimes lessons will become available the same day, so check often! And please email me or text me if you decide to sign up for a make up the same day.

Please consult the studio calendar (shown below) to make sure the date you are missing is included in tuition. If the date is blacked/yellowed out, there are no scheduled lessons that day and they are not included in tuition, so there is no need to cancel. There are two make up days (in blue) at the end of each semester.
