

Our Structured Input Activity: Group Brainstorm

Instructions: Now that you have analyzed several sample Structured Input activities, it is time to try the technique yourselves. Choose a grammar structure. Create examples that provide context for the structure. Create a task for learners that requires them to process the examples in some way while focusing on the meaning of the texts (matching, ranking, agree/disagree, true/false, personal opinion, etc.). Then think of an extension activity in which students can be stimulated to use the structures themselves.

Target Structure:
• ...
Language Input:
• ... • ... • ... • ... • ... • ...
Input Processing Activity:
• ...
Extension Activity:
• ...