

Are you the Freelance Proposal Writer for us?

We're looking for someone to work freelance in support of the sales process at Helpr, filling out RFP's from clients of various sizes. Experience required in proposal writing and working knowledge of enterprise sales is requested.

About Helpr

Helpr is a Los Angeles based family support company that provides employee benefits solutions such as backup care with screened babysitters and mobile app tools for accessing subsidies for child and adult care. With the new world that COVID 19 has ushered in, Helpr now offers virtual care and learning courses for children of all ages. We work with companies seeking to provide more ease of work/life balance for their employees. We believe that reliable, affordable and high-quality care should be easily accessible for all families. With over 15 years experience in the childcare industry, Helpr is attuned to the requirements of the modern workforce and dynamic needs of families to ensure utmost quality of compassionate care. We are results driven and hard working, and do practice flex-work in coordination with direct collaborators.

To Apply

Please send your CV with recent pricing in an email to kasey@helpr-app.com. Rate is TBD.