Now when i think of hogwarts i think of the beautiful growth the school has come to and i have had some thought on how it has changed. The muggleborn students have made this place so diverse and new. Some of the things that have made it better is there ways of change in music. They have so many genres of music out side of wizarding world and they brought they into our new light. Now when it is time for the singing toads to proform we have new and exiting music for them to sing to and we can still also bring our old ways with a mix of the old music and the new music. Also when we are practicing sports or in the hall ways walking to and from class. We can listen to music and make our day more enjoyable.

The others simple and great ways of the muggle borns have helped us is with our education is with sports. When we had first started out with sports we had only quidditch. But now we have a huge variety. We have sports like soccer and basketball. These sports were not a huge hit in the begging but now they are a blast to play during off hours of school.

These are some of the huge advancements the muggleborn students have added to this great school. Also, this is why we should keep these new traditions alive. When we add new we add spice and flare so more people will come and share our wonderful school with us.
