

Global Co Lab Network Takes its 5th Teen-led Delegation to the United Nations High Level Political Forum in 2025

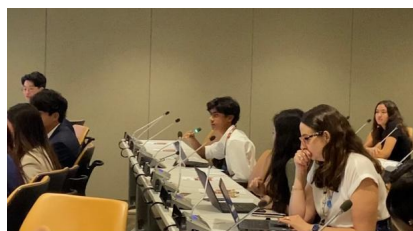

Teen Delegation arrives at UN HLPF

Our teens had a tremendous experience at the UN High-Level Political Forum this past week. They went to multiple sessions all week long, getting a behind the scenes look on how the UN works.

HLPF Side events participation

The teens attended several Side Events on a wide range of topics. Not only did the teens sit in on the sessions, they also participated, asking questions and offering insights from a youth perspective.

Turkish Consulate

Our teen delegation visited the Ambassador Consular General of the Turkish Mission for an official meeting, where each teen had the opportunity to speak on the projects they are working on with their fellow hub members related to the SDGs. The Ambassador was very impressed as the teens led the entire meeting.

Global Co Lab Side Event

The teens also held their own event, with an audience of over 100 who joined in-person and virtually. After screening the Co Lab documentary, each teen delegate spoke on the actions their hubs are taking on SDGs.

Networking

Through all these events, teens honed their networking skills, making connections with individuals and other like-minded organizations, forging relationships that they can carry forward with them.

Exploring NYC

The teens also had time to enjoy New York City.

It was a great opportunity for personal growth, while furthering the goals of the work in SDGs through the Global Co Lab.
