I arrived at the rally thirty minutes early, and was given a press member's pass to attend the rally in the front row. As I waited, I took the pulse of the crowd and the atmosphere seemed energetic and optimistic. Oddly enough, a workout bench with 200 lbs drums, along with 50 lbs dumbbells sat near the rear of the stage. I didn't know what was in store for this rally.

As the time drew closer to 1:00 p.m., I watch as Xavier, dressed in a black suit and tie, and Dr. Kruger, dressed in workout attire, enter stage left. The crowd bursts into cheers as Kuat strolls for the podium and Kruger makes his way towards the workbench. He laid flat on the seat, reached up for the barbell and began performing reps as Xavier began to speak.

"Good afternoon Lake Erie! I just got done visiting your neighbors up north and I must say, all of you are pleasant. I have yet to have a bad interaction with any of you." He said.

Xavier suddenly held one finger in the air, then walked away from the podium. The crowd pan over to him walking over to Dr. Kruger and giving him a quick spot as he finishes his last rep. He then walks back to the podium.

"The people of these great states are some of the best and really put the Southern Charm to the test. But I'm not here to just compliment you, I'm here to speak with you on a serious matter. I believe Dr. Kruger has something to say."

Xavier motions for Eddie to come over. After taking a several second breather, he makes his way over.

"Hello Erie! It is so wonderful to be here on the campaign trail with my good friend Xavier. He's a very likable guy; I can see why more of you voted for him than me last election!"

[Audience laughs as Eddie wipes some sweat off his forehead with a towel draped over one shoulder and takes a sip of water]

“I’ve had to be very efficient at maintaining my physical health while on the campaign trail. Due to canvassing commitments, the only time I could fit in my workout today was during Xaiver’s speech. I always bring my weights along in my car, and now all of you have witnessed the Dr. Kruge Express Workout Routine! Try it! It will change your life!”

“Now, onto the reason you're here. I want to talk about my good friend Xavier Kuat. We met several years ago and while I was unsure about him at first, his immeasurable love for this nation struck a chord with me. Not to mention I believe he's a part time comedian! I'd like to be the first to officially endorse him for the Democratic nomination for president, and subsequently endorse him for President of the United States. He is a good man and I know he has a good heart. Though I cannot continue on my political path, I have laid with him my legislation and my ideals. I hope to see several bills passed in the coming months, Xaiver and myself will work hard to see this through. One such legislation is to expand offshore green energy sources through tidal and wind power that will bring jobs to our coastal communities across the nation! And we must work to expand these jobs to landlocked areas as well through further wind, solar, geothermal, and nuclear power facilities. We must act quickly to ensure a healthy planet for our country's youth, for their future! Thank you people of Erie for taking the time to hear us tonight, and it is an honor to serve as your representative! Thank you, you are all so wonderful!”
