

Origin Story

Ariel, a girl who was once a mortal and born into a world where the gods walked among men. A girl with beautiful long brown hair that was always in the most perfect bun. She has deep blue eyes like the sea that you can get lost in forever. Her parents treat her very poorly, always making her do everything around the house and never caring about what was happening in her life. Ariel possessed a unique spark of magic that set her apart from those around her. As she grew older, she discovered that this magic was a gift from the gods themselves, and she was destined for greatness.

One night she decided to run away but her only route was into the scary dark forest. After walking a long time she found a not so scary spot to sleep for the night. In the morning she continued to walk, far far away. Along the way she found a thing that was hanging from a very tall tree. Ariel walked over to it and she touched it. It felt like something that was made from silk. Then she realized it was very similar to the one she had a dream about many times. As she was looking at it, she began to dance with it.

Sooner or later she starts doing some tricks and flips with it. She became more and more daring with her tricks, including doing dangerous and dangerous tricks. On the most dangerous trick of all, she felt a sense of freedom and happiness she had never felt before. When she opened her eyes she realized she was glowing and had become a goddess.

From that day forward, Ariel walked the earth as a powerful goddess, using her magic to help those in need and standing up against the forces of darkness. Though she was still mortal, her spirit was now unbreakable, and she would always be remembered as a symbol of hope and courage.
