

1. Identify community gardens nearby Cooking Crew site.
  - a. Ask school/community members in network if they know of
2. Develop relationship with community gardener.
  - a. Tactics:
    - i. Receive introduction from community member.
    - ii. Introduce yourself if you see him/her gardening.
    - iii. Post introduction letter on garden fence.
3. Pitch Cooking Crew Partnership Plan
  - a. Figure out shared expectations for communication between Coordinator and gardener(s), which include:
    - i. desired form of communication (phone, email, text, etc)
    - ii. general timeline for communication
  - b. When an ample harvest is predicted, community gardeners alert Cooking Crew Coordinator.
    - i. Coordinator provides harvest list to student recipe creators.
    - ii. Based on recipes, Coordinator works with gardeners to figure out what can be supplied by gardeners and when it can be picked up.
  - c. Coordinator (or another volunteer) picks up produce from gardener, or the gardener drops it off at Cooking Crew.
    - i. If desired, Cooking Crew includes information about community garden in Cookbook Scoreboard.