- Been playing on all three servers. I've been using the European and Asian accounts as my free to play accounts.

As you know, if you are just getting into the game, it's hard to get the cards you need. What do you think about the following to help out those new users.

1) classic packs have 10 cards when either won through a brawl or a quest (not bought). This will give you the chance to get more of the classic cards faster while buying the new expansions when they come out. It wouldn't be a huge amount of cards, but I think it would help the player trying to do all their quests and brawls for cards. And because you can't buy them, it can't be abused for dust. (although that system needs to be adjusted as well). Speaking of

2) Wild Dust. When you dust something, you should get double dust. Standard dust and Wild dust. Standard dust could be used to craft any cards, but wild dust can only be used to craft cards that are only available in wild. This way you don't feel bad about making your Dr. Boom, because that dust can only be spent in wild anyway.

- With the nerfs coming I expect call to arms to be getting the hammer. Is it playable if it was 5 mana in odd paladin or 6 in even? notice that in odd it will summon only 1 drops
