

Hall Of Fame

Here are the individuals who are the icons of Reddit Survivor.
These are people who have played a strong game and/or contributed a lot to the community, helping us be a constantly growing community helping people find the wonderful game we all long to play.
Here is the Hall Of Fame

u/Frequent_Finish_5839

Frequent Finish, or Uncle FF, is the host of season 1 and the short season 2.
Uncle FF is the one who inspired the current hosts to follow in his footsteps to continue this community.

Hall of Fame - Winners

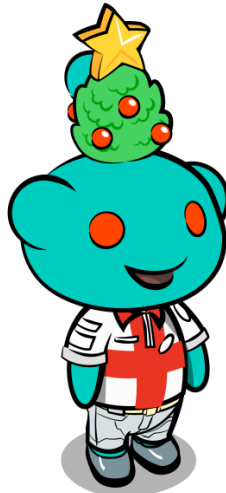

Winners

u/512ohmanohman

512ohmanohman, or 512, is the first player to win a Reddit Survivor season in this community. 512 was seen as a hero in his season, sticking with his alliance and taking down opposing threats.

u/PokeFiendish

PokeFiendish, or Poke, is the first winner under the new hosts. Poke played a dominant game from start to finish, thriving with a high threat level and a strong trio. He then went on to help the hosts with organizing the game as well as assisting with making twists and advantages, becoming a full host in Season 6.

u/thatssobranson

thatssobransonn, or Branson, is the winner of Season 4: Aran Islands. Branson played into the season theme: Professionals vs Toddlers, making people think he was a “toddler” and slowly revealing his true self as a professional of the game.

u/paaarvati

Paaarvati, or Pao, is the winner of Reddit Survivor: Season 5 - Transylvania. She played a strong game from start to finish, securing herself in the ‘Goblin Girls’ alliance. She played a truthful game, trying to protect her allies at all costs, playing a fake idol for TheRanvier and voting with her closest ally Bread at Final 5, knowing she was taking the majority vote. Pao is a deserving winner for a season with many great players.

u/BucketOCheerios

BucketOCheerios, or Cheerios, first competed on Reddit Survivor: Kapiti Island in the PokeChEditor trio. His intelligent UTR strategy and pristine choice of allies got him into the FTC, but he was next to 2 louder players, causing him to end as a 0 vote finalist.

He came back in Reddit Survivor: The Wild West as one of 3 FTC attendees. Although his threat level being automatically larger than others, once again, he found his trio in Psych and Cress, which easily pushed him into the late stage of this season. Ultimately, he ended up winning fire giving him a final push to beat out Psych at FTC. Cheerios is the only player to never be voted out of Reddit Survivor in 2 appearances.

u/bobonion1234567

bobonion1234567, or Onion, is the winner of Titans vs. Olympians. Onion was atop the contender rankings for the majority of the season. Despite being publicly identified as a major winning threat by the minority alliance, he managed to leverage his relationships (never even needing to play his steal-a-vote advantage) and win a clutch immunity to reach FTC, where he won by 1 vote. All hail the Onion King! 🏆 🍷

Hall of Fame - Voted in

Hall of Fame Inductees

These players have been voted in to the Hall of Fame

u/NdeIVe

NdeIVe, or Ndel, played on season 3 and season 4, being a special type of archetype in Reddit Survivor, a fun maker. Ndel is notorious for making the game fun for others as well as being the original Reddit Survivor Hero, being voted out after playing an idol for an ally in a tight tribal council.

u/More_Cress5598

More_Cress5598, or Cress, played on season 4. He is known for his very scrappy villainous game and compulsive lies. He flipped, burnt, and ended up getting 7th place while securing his spot in a returning season.

u/starry49

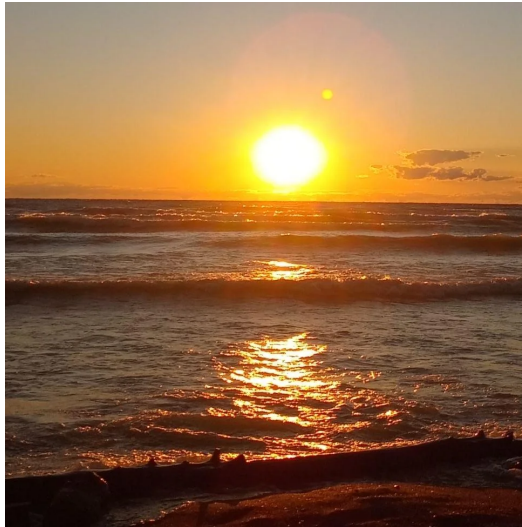

Starry49, or Starry, played on Reddit Survivor: Transylvania. She came up just short of the finale, being voted out at final four; 3-1, after running the game the whole season. Starry was the jury favourite until her demise. She will go down as the best to never win... or will she?

u/forever__Lurker forever__Lurker, or forever, was a contestant on Reddit Survivor: Transylvania. She is the first player to be voted out and return later due to the Undead twist. Not only this, she went from being idolled out to securing a solid spot in the game, working with someone who originally voted her out. She embodies fluidity in the game, playing with her head to get further. While being a major strategic threat, she placed 7th after being voted out 7th.

u/This-Editor9150

This-Editor9150, or Editor, played on S3, 4 and transitioned into hosting halfway through his 2nd season. In Season 3, he was an integral part of the Pokecheditor trio who ran the game. Editor ended the game as 1st runner up with 3 votes. In his second time around, he was idolled out after not considering a split vote. Editor is now a part of the hosting team who is also loved by all the players.

u/NoSteak2454

NoSteak2454, or Steak, played on S4 and later S6. Steak is a strategic beast, dominating both her seasons being a strong winner threat up until her departure BOTH TIMES the round before Final Tribal Council. Steak is one of the queens of the PlaySurvivor sub, a true fallen angel in both her appearances. Keep your eyes peeled when she comes to play again.

u/Fontanator

u/Fontanator, or Font, carried the torch from Uncle FF. He started the playsurvivor community back up after the previous hosts departure in Season 2. Font has been a major part of the sub through season 3 to season 6, and will continue to be after his break during season 7.

u/Life-Application7744

u/Life-Application7744, or Life, played in seasons 1, 3, 4, then joined the hosting team in Season 5. Life is an enthusiastic player and an integral part of the hosting team. Life brought his skills and coordination from Brantsteele hosting into the playsurvivor sub and has been amazing when called upon by his hosting counterparts.

u/Moonserein

u/Moonserein, or Moon, played on S5 and S6 making deep runs in both seasons. In his first run he played a chaotic game, facing challenges at every turn. He ended up placing 2nd tied due to a blunder at FTC. In his second run, on the all returnee season, he placed himself into rewarding situations, ending up securing a 6th place finish.

u/WildBison22

WildBison22, or Bison, is the 2nd place finisher for Titans vs. Olympians. Bison is best known as a social and strategic threat who had the idol play of the season. He rode his patented Information Highway™ to FTC and is now regarded as the best to never win.

Hall of Fame - Honourable Mentions

Honourable Mentions:

These players have been hand picked by hosts due to role model behaviour or achievements outside of gameplay.

Fragrant-Air-5548

Fragrant is an active member of the Reddit Survivor community. During Season 6, he joined the fantasy survivor league and dominated the whole season. He ended in first place with 385 points, 35 more than second place. His knowledge of the community and player in Season 6 was shown in full force in this mini game as Fragrant achieved a whopping 95.5% of points obtainable in the fantasy survivor league. While not a great game player, he sure knows this community.