

"Lay-daddies and gentledudes, your hosts for the Holly Adams Hour, trademarked, a Subsidiary of the Life Coaching by Holly Brand, trademarked, Holly Adams and Jason Singer!" The Holly Adams Hour voice over states as we see our beautiful, gorgeous, and looking thinner than ever, host, Holly Adams walking out from backstage, Jason Singer close behind her, waving to the audience.

Jason is still unsure of what Holly is thinking or why she's treating him totally differently considering she used to make sure he was in his seat and muzzled up before she even set foot from behind the curtain. She just really seems to be in a good mood lately.

The pair both do the normal show of walking into the audience and greeting Holly's adoring fans. Jason wasn't too sure why Holly continued this facade up as if he could figure out her audience was a collection of mannequins, most of America would too. But, he knew not to test his luck with her.

So, that's how Jason found himself in the audience with Holly, signing autographs for lifeless masses, shaking hands of the motionless horde, and most importantly taking pictures for Holly of her standing in the audience to post on instagram later which she'd hashtag "#GreatestAudienceYet!"

Again, it wasn't Jason's place to question Holly, he just assumed that she didn't have friends and that this was the substitute. But, after she had joined the cast of The Real Housewives she had shown she actually did have friends, so Jason was unsure why Holly kept up this charade of having a fake audience, especially after being on the air for almost two years now.

Jason, however, had come to realize that this gig was actually a blessing, he didn't realize how much he'd enjoy being around Holly. Sure…she was mean to him a lot of the time, but what he didn't realize was that he was totally into that. It was only when he started catching himself getting lost on this thought that he realized that Holly was staring at him and motioning with her head to get back on stage, they had a show to film.

As the pair finally make it on to the stage, Holly air kisses both of Jason's cheeks before letting him take his seat, Jason, however, was busy trying to cool the heat of the blood now flowing into his blushing cheeks. He isn't sure if Holly notices, or perhaps, chooses to ignore it, but either way, he's fine with her not pointing it out. He doesn't know how she would take his feelings.

"Oh my god, thank you guys so much for attending yet another rousing edition of the Holly Adams Hour. I know we're going to have so much fun tonight, like we've got such a great show planned for you. But, tonight we have to start with our favorite: Hot Goss," As soon as Holly says this, the stage changes colors and the screens behind her start showing video packages of Holly sitting in her hosts chair talking about various topics, mainly lying, but as it gets to the final shot the screen freezes on Holly's smiling face with the words HOT GOSS! Featured prominently.

"So Jay, what are this week's Hot Goss topics?" Holly asks, leaning on the arm of her chair staring at her co-host intently. He again looks like he's about to explode.

"Well, for starters there's this rumor going around that the original bigfoot rumors that came out of Alaska were actually just photos of Selena Frost because we're almost positive she doesn't shave," he manages to get out while Holly is staring at him.

"Augh, pass, we all know she doesn't shave, I've wrestled her and I could feel her leg hair poking through her knock-off Lululemons. What else have you got?"

"Uhh, there's another rumor going around that if she forgets to wax, former World Champion, Bree Lancaster has a mustache thicker than a Middle Eastern Dictators?"

"Love when rumors start get picked up by the Hot Goss tag on Twitter, but no, there's got to be something better we can discuss than that heifer, but also, we have eyes. So, next?" Holly asks non-chalantly.

"Aaron Demitra, SCW Official or Officially Corrupt?"

"Officially corrupt, that was an easy one. My attorney is still looking into his finances after that whole debacle at Body, Heart, and Soul. I mean, those two girls in witness protection clearly got involved on Elsa's behalf, but he didn't throw the match out? Must be nice."

"There was also news that The Holly Adams Brand, Trademarked, was successful bringing their team record to an amazing 2-0."

"That is an amazing piece of news, why didn't you bring that up first, Jason?" Holly asks genuinely, as if she didn't give Jason the cards to read the Hot Goss Topics off of first.

"I get it, you have to get it out that we have a known Dog groomer here in SCW, and then that thing about the mustache, but you're so right, The Holly Adams Brand is now 2-0 in SCW and who did you say we beat?"

"I…I didn't get to that-"

“Oh? The Brand beat both the Fatass Connection AND a Lexy Chapel Presents affiliated group? That’s soooo funny that you bring that up,” Holly prods, attempting to help Jason direct the conversation.

“Oh, yeah, that’s right actually - you did just beat Kandis and Tommy a couple of weeks back and then you and GiGi beat the Farmstead Friends, didn’t you?”

“We sure did Jason, but I wanted to use this as a chance to segue into what’s going on this week.”

“Because you’re facing a member of the Connection and another Lexy Chapel Presents Act?”

“See Jason, I told you you’d follow along if you just looked at the big picture. But that’s right, I’ve got exactly that. We’ve got Bautumn and then a woman who paid to look like a bookcase with tits.”

“Wait…what?”

“Because her body is square and she has two inflated whoopie cushions strapped to her chest.”

“Isn’t Kandis ‘all natural,’ though? Isn’t that her whole thing?” The camera pans over to Holly who has an eyebrow raised, looking genuinely confused.

“As someone who has been near her long enough to smell her, it smelled faintly of burnt rubber and rubber cement, but I was just assuming Cid*nay* accidentally punctured her in some way and that’s what it was coming from. But I spent the entirety of the last Holly Adams Hour, trademarked, talking about how disgusting not just I, but most of the human race finds her except her drug addled cuckold boyfriend who has a hard-on for Cid*nay* as of late.”

“So, let's talk about how she almost killed Cid*nay* in the ring instead.”

“She did?!” Jason asks, shocked as he hadn’t heard about this before even though Holly told him the Hot Goss topics ahead of time.

“She tried to sit on him, Jason! Sit on him! He has a loving fiance at home waiting for him, he has a whole group of followers in his cult that he told me to stop calling a cult! She clearly didn’t think about those people when she was busy trying to murder him with her cinderblock of an ass. She can claim it’s real all she wants, but we had to take Cid*nay* to the trainer’s room and they were afraid that he’d have some bruising on his sternum.”

“So, I guess this is my chance to enact some sort of revenge for Cid*nay* while he goes to fight in his own war with Kandis' car crash of a boyfriend…or whatever he is, who cares. All I know is is that Kandis has gotten in over her head, she can say she’s ready, and demand to be taken seriously at this level of competition, but this is her chance to prove it.”

“The only reason that I’m not World Champion right now is because of a crooked referee taking the opportunity away from me not once, but twice, and an even more crooked management team who allows this behavior to continue.”

“Meanwhile, Kandis blew her way into getting a shot in March at the World Title when in reality it should be me getting a rightful shot at Selena with a different referee. But, instead, I’ve got jumbotron here and Bautumn who recycles jokes that Zoe and I made about Katie Steward ten years ago.”

“But Holly, doesn’t Autumn at least make sense in this case? She had a record setting TV Title reign, didn’t she?”

“And what did she do with that? She squandered it and lost the title to someone who is in witness protection so we’ll probably never see that thing again. But, to be fair, Autumn is the biggest thing to come out of the LexyNation.”

“If there’s one thing that Autumn has behind her, it’s a massive outpouring of support from her fans and the fans of LexyNation,” Jason says in earnest.

“Yeah, she really showed that when she lost the fan vote at The End of the Year Special because LexyNation apparently voted for me. That’s the problem with Autumn, she’s just very blah. Y’know? Nothing to really write home about. The most interesting thing about Autumn is that she’s engaged to the former almost Mr. Holly Adams, Ace Marshall, so in a way he’s her Bautumn.”

“Like if she was a spice, she’d be flour.”

“I mean, it’s not her fault by any means, but Lexy spends more time marketing herself than she does Autumn, and this is the person she purports to be her biggest client. I guess that’s why it was so easy to inspire the members of LexyNation with my very unique brand of Life Coaching. They came out in droves to support the best person and at the end of the day, that wasn’t Autumn.”

“Now this isn’t to sell her in-ring abilities short, she pushed back every single challenger she was given over the last few months, but you can be the most talented person in the business and not have the right person promoting you.”

“You’d think Lexy would’ve figured that key ingredient out when it came to Autumn, but alas, Autumn remains in the annals of history as just another brunette in the sea of brunettes, cursed with a talented manager who’s greatest talent is talking about herself rather than her clients.”

“I guess that’s why you’re so successful then, because you’re really good at marketing yourself,” while Holly could take that as Jason being shady, she knows he doesn’t have a single shady bone in his body, so he was clearly just trying to be sweet and applaud Holly for her amazing branding skills.

“You're absolutely right Jason, that’s the biggest difference between Autumn and I. I get ahead because I know how to sell The Holly Adams Brand to people in a way that’s very easy to get behind, Lexy tries her hardest to push Autumn on people and the only support she can dredge up is two sex offenders in unwashed Sesame Street costumes and the human equivalent of drying paint.”

“So maybe my biggest piece of advice to Autumn is to break away from Lexy, maybe she would’ve gotten this title opportunity sooner, who knows, but all I know is that even with the might of LexyNation behind her, it’s still my chance to ascend, it’s my time to take what’s rightfully mine.”

“And neither Kandis nor Autumn are going to stand in my way to finally claim what Selena has stolen from me two times now. This is just a taste of things to come in March, just another stepping stone on my rise to the top. I’ll prove to everyone that the only reason Selena stood a chance was because Aaron Demitra fixed those two matches for her, and I’m going to start by showing Kandis and Autumn what happens when you get in the way of the Holly Adams Brand, Trademarked.”