

Avatar: PC builder

Pains/fears: can never source the right parts effectively and cheaply, customers being upset with purchase,

Desires: A perfectly good running system for their customer

Dream state: Happy customers who can personalize their PC without worrying about updates

Roadblocks: Hard to find key, think it's hard to implement key, thinks it's expensive

Comments:

I had unactivated windows and grew tired of the blocky taskbar look. I used your link, I shot for the stars thinking, "Might as well get the pro edition." Sadly with their keys you have to stick with home if you got home or reinstall windows to pro edition. I couldn't be bothered so I stuck with home edition, they replaced the 2 pro keys I bought with "home edition." Now I'm on my way.

Been using them since I've been building PCs on commission. It's a big game changer when I can tell buyers that Windows will be activated on top of it being Windows 10 Pro.

Elijah:

USP: Instant and cheapest windows key

Idea: To help PC builders set up their PC correctly with windows activated. Game changer for the buyer

Email: elijahslabbusiness@gmail.com

Dear Elijah,

I've been following your journey on YouTube for almost two years, and I must say congratulations on almost surpassing $5K in spite of a major setback. Huge respect, my brother. 💪

I'm not here to sell you anything, so don't worry about that. But I am curious if you would want to save yourself 5 years of stress when it comes to growing your brand.

Time-and-time again, startups and self employed entrepreneurs seem to do everything right, but aren't growing as fast as they'd like. Due to a few simple "cracks".

These powerful models attract a larger audience of loyal fans, increase affiliate buyers, and transform your entire business in just three weeks.

What I specialize in CAN be replicated, Overkill Computers, Blamdom, and BlacksheepDesigns are a few places I helped grow.

I can provide services in (enticing customers to buy, writing descriptions, sales pages, intriguing facebook ads, affiliate marketing.) Among other things.

I strongly believe that my expertise will be crucial to your long term endeavors, and that in a few years, you'll look back at this exact moment as a tipping point in your success.

So what do you say? Will you continue on your path, with a small chance of figuring it out solo? Or, will you consider the possibility of living like a king? Conquering your niche, and dominating over the businesses that will exist in the same position where you currently are. You decide..

Best Regards,
Logan