

Hi Vernon,

I am absolutely impressed at the services that you provide on your website, and from what I see you clearly view your clients' financial growth as your successes.

I notice, as informative as your site is, there isn't any resource that provides insight to investing trends.

Competitors at Sterling financial utilize a market commentary, informing their readers on trends that could increase their investment returns. This generates trust in their clients and increases their bookings.

Vernon, how would you feel about using informative copywriting to encourage your clients into booking more appointments, and generate more leads?

If you aim to book more appointments, how about we meet and exchange ideas. Send your reply if this is a goal you want to work toward.

Cheers,

Epe
