

ChimeraStories' Commission Information (Status: Open)

Hey there, welcome to my commissions page. Here you can find all sorts of information about how I do commissions, including my terms of service, what I can draw, and the different commission options available along with their pricing.

Terms of Service

All professional correspondence (inquiries regarding my work, commissions, quotes, etc.) is handled exclusively through my email. I don't conduct business through Direct messages, IMs, Comments or any other channels. Inquiries sent there will be ignored. Please use my email: ChimeraStoriesArt@outlook.com

General

By ordering a commission you agree to these Terms of Service and Privacy Policy.

By ordering a commission you declare that you are of legal age.

I reserve the right to decline your commission order without any reason or explanation.

I have the right to alter my Terms of Service at any time. New rules will not apply retroactively and won't influence orders started on older terms.

Openings and Ordering

Each price is tailored to fit an individual commission depending on wishes, complexity and character design. If you wish to get a quote - please contact me.

Quotes can be requested at any moment, outside of opening as well. Quotes expire after 2 months.

I don't accept reservations. I don't host waiting lists of any kind.

Commissions are accepted at the beginning of each month. If you are interested in getting art, please email me after I open up on each site I post to.

Commission description should contain visual reference [except character design type] and brief description. Please keep the description short and concise, while avoiding overly graphic terms when possible. Poetry and prose won't be accepted as reference material.

References should be concise, up to date and written in the english language. I only work with provided materials. Any changes outside of the initial project and quote must be discussed and additionally approved. Changes may be individually charged depending on their complexity. By providing me with the references for your commission, you declare that you have full copyrights or the owner's permission for usage of the character design depicted on those references.

Commission orders will be terminated if the client is unable to speak English in understandable form.

If an order involves multiple people, all communication with the artist should be handled by a single representative, elected privately by said group. I will not be involved in any quarrels among the group members nor responsible for the resulting situations. I will not be updating each person involved in the project, all updates will be passed to the selected representative only. In situations where payment is made by a different person other than the ordering client - all updates and communication will be handled with the representative [usually the person the quote was given to].

Opening may attract more people and commission ideas than I am capable of fulfilling during a single month. Please be prepared for the possibility of waiting for another opening to get your commission. I do my best to suit everyone, but I sadly can't accept everything at once.

Payments and Refunds

All payments must be made via Paypal; upfront.

All invoices are due upon receipt, unless agreed otherwise. Invoices not paid within 7 days of issue will be cancelled, also cancelling the commission associated to it. Work will not commence until payment is received.

Payments without prior invoice won't be accepted. Please include your paypal address so invoice can be prepared and sent.

Individual payment plans are available for artworks above $500 CAD. In case of multiple installments I will prepare the sketch once the 50% threshold of total price is reached. Work is continued once the full price is paid. If you know in advance you are not able to pay within one month, the commission date will be arranged individually.

Refunds can be requested at any time. If commission is being cancelled during the actual creation process, refunds will be calculated depending on the piece's progress.

Creation process, Revisions, Deadlines

Commission list doesn't reflect queue/work order. For creative purposes I alternate between the pieces.

Deadline, if desired, has to be communicated and agreed upon before an initial quote.

Deadlines affect the price and can be refused.

Most commission types will receive a sketch stage for approval and right to revision. If there is no revision/sketch stage, it is mentioned in the commission type description.

Further work-in-progress updates are provided exclusively at the client's request.

Revisions depend on commission type. Revision right applies to any kind of art with one possible revision after the sketching stage is complete. [Revision - major alternation of initial sketch]

Final edits and adjustments are always welcome, but are not included in the initial quote. They may be charged depending on complexity.

Any additional work outside of the initial project can be refused, or will be quoted and charged for accordingly.

Additional services like livestreams, timelapse videos and similar are currently unavailable.

Commissions are taken and done on a monthly basis. Usual turnaround is 2-4 weeks.

Image rights

I as an artist retain all rights to created artwork. I reserve the right to repost, use and sell all created art in digital or physical forms. Profits won't be shared.

Clients may repost watermarked art at will as long as credit to an author is included and no profit is being made.

I do not claim any rights to characters and other intellectual properties used in the process of creation.

Every client has the possibility to buy full commercial rights to commissioned artwork. Details will be discussed individually. Please expect industry rates and legal contracts.

Other

Please respect that I have my own working hours and I won't be sharing my schedules.

My private contact information will not be shared with clients.
