Communication with families in a language they understand helps students succeed and builds a welcoming school community. School/District is committed to communicating meaningfully with all families we serve to provide any and all school-related information and foster mutually beneficial, collaborative partnerships. This Language Access Plan is intended to mitigate language barriers so that families can make informed decisions in their children's education.

This plan also outlines procedures for ensuring that parents and guardians with disabilities have equal access to information and participation. Language access for individuals with disabilities means that they must be able to comprehend and meaningfully engage with the school regarding their child's education, including through the provision of information in accessible formats and appropriate communication supports.

Language Access Rights

If you are a parent or guardian of a student in public schools and your dominant language is not English, or you have a disability that affects communication, you have the following rights established by federal law:

- School districts must have a process for identifying your language needs.
- Schools must provide information in a language you understand.
- Schools must provide information in a format you can access if you have a disability.
- School districts must provide effective language assistance to you, such as by offering translated materials or a language interpreter.
- Schools must provide you with language assistance even if your child is proficient in English or you have some English proficiency.
- Schools must provide translation or interpretation from appropriate and competent individuals and may not rely on or ask students, siblings, friends, or untrained school staff to translate or interpret for you.
- Language assistance must be free to you.

Language Identification Procedures

 - a. list languages

Enrollment staff are trained in procedures for accessing qualified interpreters to help parents complete enrollment paperwork if needed.
2. Student Information System: The preferred language and method of communication of parents/guardians will be visible to all staff in Student Information System.
3. Preferred Language Lists: School secretaries will distribute preferred language lists to classroom teachers upon request.
4. Teacher Communication: Teachers are encouraged to inquire about communication preferences in their own communication with families.

This plan will be published on the school/district website. Add district/school-specific procedures for communicating the plan and to stakeholders, including staff and families. Consider how language access rights and resources will be shared with families and staff. Include who is responsible for sharing this information and the process/procedures for doing so.

District-specific example:

Our school district will take a multi-stakeholder approach to communicating with families about their language access rights and the resources available to them.

- Enrollment secretaries are responsible for providing all families with a copy of this Language Access Plan as part of the enrollment process.
- School principals will link the Language Access Plan in school-wide communications including newsletters and announcements. Principals are also responsible for sending communications in families' preferred language, according to the preferred language list maintained by school secretaries.

- Classroom teachers will share the Language Access Plan in beginning-of-the-year communications. Classroom teachers are also responsible for sending communications in families' preferred language, according to the preferred language list maintained by school secretaries.
- English Language Development staff, including Parent Resource Assistants will share language access information at all informational meetings held for families of multilingual students.
- Special Education staff will be responsible for disseminating the Language Access Plan as appropriate before and during the IEP process.

Training on the Language Access Plan is provided to all teachers at New Teacher Orientation, and is reviewed with staff annually by building principals in August during regularly scheduled professional development or staff meetings.

To request additional training or review procedures for effectively working with interpreters, staff should contact the district contract listed below, their school administrator, or building ELD teacher.
