mainProposal for the consensus on the aim, principles and narrative of a 'Global Alliance (Pro Survival)' | 'Movement of Movements'!

The aim is to save this our planetary life system so that this earth remains habitable & vital for humans & the natural world!

The principle is that we all - all inhabitants of the earth - in the face of this catastrophe are one, one world, and that we have to fight in close connection, cooperation and collaboration!

The narrative is that we realign, reorganize and restructure this world solely with the power of voluntariness and on the basis of global networks and networking!

--------------------

To the European Commission and the world:
[https://ec.europa.eu/info/law/better-regulation/have-your-say/initiatives/12265-2030-Climate-Target-Plan/F511262]

One thing must be or become clear to all of us, a 'burning house', ours, in which we are all locked in, cannot be extinguished with money, paper and numbers, rather, according to their very principle and drive, they lead to further fueling the flames.
In addition, is it more than hindering, crippling and blocking that everyone is primarily concerned about, that every undertaking depends on how much can be earned, how everything is financeable, or that everyone has to fear for his or her monetary economic existence.
As long as money and trade are tools in the organization of human world societies, one cannot act against the climate catastrophe and ecological breakdown to the extent that the now almost unstoppable, soon inevitable collapse of our home - our planetary life system - makes it necessary to avoid it.!!
The room to maneuver within the monetary world system ranges from water squirt guns to flower planting campaigns, which receive general attention and goodwill...
Particularly now, in the forced emergency break of flourishing economies by the virus attack (resp. this misguided biological geoengineering), this contradictoriness becomes more than obvious!
Therefore it is of vital importance that this is also recognized and accepted by governments and state offices, as well as in business circles!
And if, similar to the recently held 'hackathon', the government would support the creation of platforms in the Internet, or World Wide Web, which would form a fallback level in international interlocking and interconnection, about which the various disruptive incidents, including a collapse of financial systems and of the world financial system, can be absorbed and mitigated purely and solely with the power of voluntariness (in global networking), so that it does not lead to the completely dystopian circumstances that are predicted and expected by quite a few futurologists!

If this would be recognized now, in this processing phase of current developments, if there would be the broadest support for it, if it would find its way into international negotiations and discussions, if such a basis would be laid and available and if the fight against the soon inevitable self-extinction processes would be promptly organized and led solely on this basis, perhaps a complete collapse of our house, of our life systems could still be halted and averted. Otherwise this realization comes after the universal, overarching collapse, then the true value of money is revealed - paper and some numbers on it, perhaps some notes are still preserved in one piece...

This world can't be saved with vast sums of money & numbers!
This world can only be saved and preserved with the power of (worldwide interconnected) voluntariness!

Instead of:  'money & trade' , 'networks & net working'!
or instead of: 'Production  ↔  Money & Trade  ↔  Distribution'
'Production  ↔  Networks & Net Working  ↔  Distribution'!

Remove the monetary world system from the networks and from all human societies!

Replace the monetary world system with the help and on basis of global digital networks & networking in global connection & cooperation!

Peace & Love.. ☼

Important! Urgent! Assessments on COVID-19 / climate catastrophe & ecological collapse

Considering the fact that it is likely that monetary economies will crash means that international and regional production and supply lines or chains of production will come to a halt due to this enforced Covid-19 emergency break (or better: during the fight against this bio-nuclear bomb against humanity - in double meaning), but in any case in the further course of the climate catastrophe and ecological collapse, we must prepare for these disruptive events and collapses in a timely manner.
This fight, both against the virus - for life & survival, as well as against the ecological collapse and the climate catastrophe, can only be waged with the power of voluntariness and in global networking. While monetary means as a tool in the organization of human societies are completely and utterly overcome, are and will no longer be applied and used.
This means that we have to create as soon as possible a kind of global Internet world map on which all people, all companies, all manufacturers, all craftsmen, artisans, etc. etc. are interconnected and interact in such a way that the international and national production lines and chains are maintained on a global scale on the basis of voluntariness!
We cannot continue with monetary means, we have to free ourselves as a world from such in order to become independent from the constraints of these means, e.g. that everything has to be done primarily to generate money, more money than the competitors, in order to maintain a monetary economic existence, as well as the monetary system imposes competition and rivalry, etc. etc., but also independent from the instability of financial systems..!

For example, an organizational tool that goes in this direction: [https://kartevonmorgen.org/ - select the English language by clicking on 'en'], but which would need to be scaled up and expanded massively so that all civilian life is linked to that of the commodity and economic world. At the end: The World Network of Networks !
However, survival on this planet now depends crucially, almost solely on the big digital companies, whether they participate in this last possible world saving project or not!

In short: Both the fight against the Covid-19 virus and the consequences of a possible collapse of the monetary economic systems, as well as against the climate catastrophe and the ecological collapse can only be fought with the power of voluntariness and in global networking.

Therefore: Software engineers of this world, create (in a hackathon) a platform that offers a fundament on which the whole world can realign, reorganize and globally restructure itself! [https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hackathon]

A point of action as one of the first activities would be to call on software engineers to create such a platform that is mirrored all over the world. And that we approach all companies, shops, workers & employees, all people asking them to join, participate, contribute and collaborate in such a fallback level and world salvation project....

Such a tool, such an 'internet world map of tomorrow' or 'World Network of Networks', through which all networks, platforms, the civil and the commodity & business world are interlocked, linked and interwoven (like a safety net of high-wire artists), should be able to absorb a shutdown or a sudden crash of the world financial system from one moment to the other. So that even on the following day enough food arrives on the shelves, that energy and communication systems continue to work, that health care and care for the elderly remain guaranteed, that education is available for children, adolescents and students, that a production of essential goods continues, including logistical integration & transport, that public transport-systems continue to operate. As well as the timely implementation of large-scale, international renaturation projects, e.g. the cleaning of oceans and land masses from litter, all to stabilize and restore ecosystems, to extract greenhouse gases from the atmosphere and store them in solid form, and to start building a global renewable energy system as soon as possible, which is mainly fed by solar energy from desert areas, etc. etc.

So that we can finally realize this epochal change by shifting the monetary world system fully and completely onto therefore prepared global networks and networking and to fight the catastrophe of the in the meantime more than probable self-extinction all together, as one world, in global connection, cooperation and collaboration!

 Final conclusion - Appeal to self-responsibility
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

We are confronted with the catastrophic development of a drastic rise in global temperatures and the collapse of our ecosystems, which was described years ago as a "worst-case scenario" and in the course of which, among other things, the food and drinking water supply will break in a massive way.

At this crossroads in human history, every human being is now (!) faced with a choice and - knowingly, unknowingly or ignorantly - makes a decision, whether he or she, in the further course of very probably unavoidable developments - after the emergency slaughter of all farm and hobby animals, will suffer from hunger, by dying of thirst, from heat stroke, from the consequences of radioactive contamination due to meltdowns in the countless nuclear reactors (currently approx. 410), by virus attacks, in pandemics and epidemics, in mutual slaughter, in the fiercest global and/or local distribution struggles - wars, prepper scenes or gang wars, through rampant rape excesses - losing all morals, through the cruelest acts of revenge on those responsible [x1], or - as the most pleasant transition - wanting to die from a juice laced with valium and cyanide - this for himself/herself, for young people, adolescents, children, newborns and possibly for beloved pets..  [x2] or whether he or she now, on every single day, focuses on the last possibility and chance that remains for humanity as a reality, scientifically speaking, almost in a mathematical equation, even if at first sight it might be perceived as hopeless to achieve it.

[x2] Albeit there are no absolutely certain scientific positions at this crossroads of decision making, one cannot say that the above is definitely going to happen one hundred percent, but "it is absolutely within the realms of possibility", as scientists are accustomed to express it.

Everyone on this planet, we all can only achieve our continuation as human existence, in the preservation of remaining ecosystems, of our surrounding nature, of animals & plants, together with an universal, all-inclusive, daily, individual, strictly adhered paradigm shift, aiming for to overcome the monetary world system / era, the capital+financial & trade system, switching it (computer-systemically) fully and completely off, or eliminating it after the forthcoming financial crash, continuing the organization of the world society purely and solely with the help and on basis of global digital networking(s), in order to organize the struggle for survival of humanity against the home-grown, almost unstoppable, planetary lifeworld destroying catastrophe, to renew ourselves, to realign, to redefine and to reorganize our way of living and fabrication, the whole way of producing and consuming, at a speed similar to that of World War II, thereby almost completely against the competing, compulsion driven, maximum generation of finances, against the existing 'economical constraints' to transform and rebuild all, so that our planet Earth can be kept habitable ..

That this gets into the focus of everyone, who has an instinct of self-preservation for him or herself, for children and adolescents, including all nature, regardless of whether one belongs to 'upper' or 'lower' strata of society (according to financial wealth), has up to now represented conservative, right or left wing worldviews or opinions, is in this particular historical situation the question of survival!

Any day that this is not taken unconditionally, that this becomes the agenda item of humanity, not worked for with all our might to be timely implemented, drives us deeper into an ever more inescapable maelstrom of processes towards a complete self-destruction of our planetary lifeworld, into a 'terrestrial self-killing'.

In addition, every human being living on this planet today carries with his/her non-action or action, his or her extraordinary 'global responsibility'!

Out from the yoke of the monotony of obedience to work contracts and careers, out of small-family fragmentation; towards a responsibility for the society and the world as a whole, in a tireless dedication, in solidary cooperation and universal collaboration for the success of the whole, the salvation of our planetary lifeworld...!

The future is now, or there is no future for us!
Let's try to make the seemingly impossible possible!
Let's fight for a future!
Become part of the 'movement of movements'!

------------------------------

What has to be tackled now for survival!
(with or without decimation of the world population by wars and pandemics)

What needs to be tackled now to achieve survival, to save our planet, our lifeworld & existence - and what we need to discuss in citizens' assemblies, in all forms and forums of participatory democracy all over the world, how this can be achieved and implemented! ... starting from the altitude & attitude..

We do not only have to give up our individual trips by airplane, pausing it until the engines are modified, as for example into liquid hydrogen airplanes which were already developed in the 50s by Lookheed [https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lockheed_CL-400_Suntan], as this was done later on by the Soviets [https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tupolev_Tu-155], as this counts for cruises, cargo & container ships, whereby we have to test it first slowly, what would be the impact on the climate and the environment.. but we also and mainly have to give up and pause mass automobility & logistics the same way, use automobility only for emergency cases or heavier logistic transportation at close range, for the rest we have to put electrified railbound systems onto highways and national routes, as well as to transform the cities in such a way, in combination with bicycles or other forms of micro-mobility, but we also have to give up meat & dairy or to reduce meat consumption to an absolute, absolute minimum, the same applies to fish products.. we have to give up our oil, gas or coal heating systems at home.. we must shut down all coal, gas and nuclear power plants (* see below) worldwide as soon as possible or even immediately.. instead, we need to install a global renewable energy system as quickly as possible, taking mainly solar energy from the deserts (mass solar panels and/or wind turbines are not a solution), for this we must give up national or regional protectionism and the associated extreme global monetary economic competition..

We also have to give up planned obsolescence (the technological as well as the psychological), means instead of having daily calls to buy this or that or to travel from here to there, we need daily appeals about the true state of emergency of this disaster, to reach an emergency break in the daily life of everyone and to live for a while on the most existential.. we have to recycle almost everything, creating industries therefore, we have to stop all kinds of waste incineration.. we must carefully reprocess all coolants, preventing it that they leak into the atmosphere.. we must stop the clear-cutting and slash-and-burn clearing in forests, especially in virgin forests.. we have to give up using pesticides & fertilizers largely, as well as overproduction, abundance and wasting.. we must stop all superfluous and unnecessary mega construction projects..

We must take all possible measures to extract about 120 ppm $CO_2$, or depending on the development even more, from the (lower) atmosphere as soon as possible through massive renaturation, restoration of vast wilderness areas, wetlands, bogs, swamps, underwater seagrass landscapes, etc.. possibly storing plants & trees deep underground after an appropriate growth.. we have to think about creating huge irrigation areas in combination with desalination plants in order to raise groundwater levels.. first and foremost, everything must be done to stabilize the various ecosystems of the earth.. big game hunting & poaching must be stopped immediately and prohibited.. we must rid the oceans and land masses of plastic and all other littering & pollution, including nuclear pollution to the extent possible..

We have to give up military operations and maneuvers at sea, on land, and in the air, the gigantic military machineries.. we must come together and work together as an earth population.. Trade agreements, trade conflicts, trade wars, as well as military operations & wars for raw materials & resources, transit, trade & economic routes and/or markets, in order to defend oneself against competitors, to push away competitors or even to eliminate & destroy them must be completely abandoned and stopped.. the same way it has to be abandoned, that everything is done primarily to generate money, more money than competitors, to improve ones competitiveness, to maintain an economic existence, in order not to be possibly bought up by competitors or forced to offer everything for sale in the end.. for this we must, as already mentioned, give up and overcome the global monetary economic competition utterly and completely, by switching the global financial system (computer systemically) off, or to eliminate it after a crash...

Ultimately, the inherent influences, effects and ramifications of monetary systems on human societies would have to be completely reversed. This is impossible as long as this instrument continues to exist and is applied!

All that, to induce and to implement all these rescue measures in a timely manner, is only possible if the world organization is continued purely through the networks and networking (via the digital systems as well as a personal one locally on site).

Conclusion: All this, this great transformation would only work out, if we end the monetary era, switching it off computer-systemically, to remove it from the networks, if we make it to transfer the world organization, running now mainly via the monetary world system, completely onto therefor prepared global digital networks and 'net working' to a defined time and specific date in the near future, which would have to be implemented globally within the next months in order to save our planetary lifeworld together with our mere human existence, or we will more than likely not be able to stop the falling of the climate dominoes, the turbo effects and feedback loops any more, means that within a few years/decades we will disappear together with our collapsed planetary lifeworld in the dust of deserts!!

Instead of 'money & trade', 'networks & net working'!
or instead of:  production ↔ money & trade ↔ distribution
production ↔ networks & 'net working' ↔ distribution!

Everything, everything needs to change and it has to start today!
(Great Greta Thunberg)

Don't ask what your country can do for you, but ask what you can do for the whole world.

* In particular, nuclear power plants, as they will sometime blow up in our faces in the event of an abrupt rise in temperature, which is apparently taking place at present, including prolonged droughts and falling river levels, as they require many months of uninterrupted and intensive water cooling, as well as an appropriate power supply, even after a quick shutdown, so that a meltdown is prevented. At least as far as inland power plants are concerned, whereby those located on sea coasts in turn are threatened by the then strongly rising sea levels (see Fukushima).

 Proposition / Manifesto:

Global Alliance Pro Survival  /  The Great Transition & Transformation of Humanity!

Demands and goals (toward all governments of all countries, but especially to all people in the world, including ourselves!) - Consensus for Survival:

- Non-monetary latest in 2021 (or after a crash of the world's financial system)!
- Preparing the various networks for a smooth transition!

- Introduction and implementation of all disaster fighting & emergency measures!   (*)
- Immediate end to all deforestation and clearcutting, especially in the primeval forests!
- Stop all armed conflicts, wars and social struggles! Give up national or regional protectionism, coming together as a world society in a universal and unlimited cooperation!
- Daily disaster alert calls to confront this natural disaster achieving an emergency break in the daily life of all the people of the world population who are mainly responsible for this disaster!
- Immediate supply of the basic needs of all earth inhabitants, inclusive ending the starvation catastrophe!
- Taking all measures for the fastest possible extraction of greenhouse gases from the entire atmosphere, as well as compliance with all the other 'planetary boundaries', together with all necessary measures to stabilize the various ecosystems on Earth, including massive renaturations in the form of wilderness!
- Structure formation of self-sustaining networks of various kinds, in participatory democracy, for local to global issues and tasks!
- Transformation of the world economies & human life in accordance, in unity and in harmony with natural processes, circulations and cycles!

• Remove the monetary world system from the networks and from all human societies..
Peace & Love ☼

(*) According to the situation we are in a total emergency brake is required!!
This means from one day to the next we have to shut down all industries in this world, that do not produce for the absolutely most existential.. such as all car industries (including truck & motorcycle factories), aircraft & shipbuilding industries, all military industries, therewith many steel & aluminum factories, etc. etc. so that already a large part of the nuclear and coal+gas power plants can be shut down in a very short time.. also have to be stopped or reduced to the most limited: construction industries & cement factories, electrical industries, tourism industries, animal breeding & fishing industries, wood industries, etc. etc... but which doesn't go together with labor markets, social systems, and especially financial systems, international power structures, competitiveness, etc...

Instead doing renaturations, renaturations, renaturations (creation of irrigation systems for woods & agriculture, for wetlands & bogs, biotopes of all kinds, and this at fullest possible speed and on a global scale !

ps: the symbol in the background of the 'Global Alliance'-text is a mixture of the currency sign (¤), a 'character used to denote an unspecified currency' or a 'placeholder for a concrete currency to be added' and the symbol for the Internet... according to my considerations the placeholder would remain open, which would mean that there is no more a 'currency', or that the common 'currency' that is 'in circulation' would be a sense, a feeling, a look, an awareness, a contribution to the success of the whole.. that there would only be a Global Alliance of millions of types of local/regional districts, municipalities and communities participating through structures of various forms of 'participatory democracy', connected via the Internet and the World Wide Web, etc. etc..
in the whole to be a global society in universal and unlimited cooperation, in which all the different resources and tasks are shared and exchanged, in which we work together for the benefit of all people in the world, using the power of networks to determine the respective needs in general from the sum of the needs of each individual, at the same time to connect the different individual intrinsic inclinations, bents, tendencies and skills in millions upon millions of different projects, enterprises & ventures, (craft) workshops, etc. etc.. this in largely self-determined individual, local and/or regional self-sufficiency, thereby also in a constant interaction and interplay with the universal, with the rest of the world..

It should also be mentioned, that it is actually money, along with an artificial lack caused by these influences, that creates rivalry, which in turn, through the networking via the networks, but also the direct-personal locally, if money&trade were no longer a mean of organization, both the individual and the country-specific rivalry, as a currently very distinctive characteristic, would strongly form back, simply because then everyone would have to think about how the whole thing could work. Then it would no longer be: "Don't ask what your country can do for you, but ask what you can do for the whole world."
In fact, any financial interests or influences are extremely counterproductive in the fight against this primordial catastrophe, because they act as an instrument and incentive system counterproductive to the now so urgently needed unrestricted and universal cooperation. But we can only coordinate and organize our now already started fight for survival against this catastrophe purely by means of unlimited, cooperative networking in such a way that this still leads to self-preservation for everyone! Ultimately, this is the decisive question, about life and extinction, whether we manage it to switch off the monetary world system, with the help and on the basis of therefor prepared digital networks and 'net working', as well as to come together in a universal global cooperation to implement and accomplish all necessary emergency measures in the near term...

  How this great salvation project could work out

A concrete tool for the implementation could be the 'map of tomorrow' [https://kartevonmorgen.org/], but it would have to be applicable on a global scale and to be modified, so that e.g. as many farmers as possible, solidary agriculture, permaculture & urban gardening projects, grocery stores, or food shops, all kinds of businesses, education and health care, large companies and service providers, but also all individuals already register with different projects, which then interlock to such an extent that this could be a kind of fallback level for the different scenarios, for example after a crash in the world financial system (which will certainly happen this decade, maybe even soon, as well) or through extreme weather events, the climate catastrophe in connection with ecological breakdowns, possibly also through pandemics (and thus an extensive collapse of previous supply systems, production & distribution chains, etc.) which are currently based on monetary means) or acts of war, etc. etc. short: the further we get into the different catastrophes, or rather into the self-destruction processes, the more we will be forced to realign ourselves completely.
Similar to the situation in Greece, when from one moment to the next the banks and ATMs stopped giving out money and people were forced to reorganize themselves purely through digital systems, so that the biggest chaos would not have broken out - which was quite successful, and this without any preparation... whereas compared to the catastrophe of the self-destruction processes, it would in any case be better to tackle this now, or is this ultimately the question of survival..!

And the sooner this is established in the consciousness of the world population, the bigger is the chance to avert a complete self-annihilation... as long as the monetary world system is effective, we will not get out of fossil energy sources (related to the world), abundance & wasting, etc. can we neither initiate an emergency brake nor a radical change in the whole way of producing & consuming, in the economic & social life, and can't we, or (by far) not sufficiently implement all the disaster fighting measures that are so urgently needed now, rather the monetary systems work in completely opposite ways!

Consequently, all attention should now be focused on targeting such a fallback level as quickly as possible and on participating in the preparatory developments of organisational structures via the networks, and - as soon as such software technology bases have been created and are online, which extend across the entire globe and are operating for security reasons in mirrored form - to register with a kind of 'basic occupation or work time' in the various, in parts newly established entrepreneurial and social projects, as well to make a rough estimation of the individual, small-family or business needs, so that these can be determined locally, regionally and transregionally and to be set out widely for the general public what is lacking or where there is too much, so that projects and businesses can be set up in order to achieve a balance, plus that everything can be coordinated with a view to the global whole.

This great humanity project can only be carried out if everyone cooperates and participates, if everyone overtakes an immediate global responsibility and is constantly involved in the success of this great human act, the salvation of our planetary lifeworld and of humanity!

Thereby this depends on scientific facts (resources, sustainability, regenerative ability & resilience of ecosystems, 'planetary boundaries', etc.) as well as on a feeling, a look, an awareness, a commitment for the success of the whole! Think & Feel Global, Act Local - Save the Planet!

---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------
 Drafts, ideas, imaginations of a non-monetary world or of a C&TF1WS (currency&trade.free OneWorldSociety):
---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

First: there would be no gigantic upheavals, at least there are already in all areas of progressive knowledge and developments, which are so far, however, reduced to an idealistic niche existence, sometimes even suppressed.
In any case, a much lower 'duty or basic working time', which would be done, according to intrinsic predispositions, but also by extrinsic motivation, e.g. through community processes & actions.
Certainly, the next decades, with regard to the fastest possible rebuilding of the energy system on a 100% regenerative basis, the material provision in the sense of a circular economy and the biological carbon capture from the atmosphere become very labor-intensive.

For immediate, massive reforestation and restoration, the creation of peatlands and bogs, e.g. the people employed today in the financial and taxation industries, as well as in the arms industries and armies of the world could be addressed.

It would be important to free the world from the littering, the consequences of consumerism, the throwaway society and the plastic (packing) insanity, as soon and as completely as possible to liberate, especially the oceans for the salvation of the marine life (especially whales, as a factor of $CO_2$ capture).

A stabilization of the wildlife on land and in the water, the coral reefs, a committed counteraction against the mass extinction of species.

A changed media world can lead to a rethink, a cultural change and mass actions in this regard.

The protection of nature, the preservation, or the restoration of a broad biodiversity, as a basis for the integration and adaptation of civilized sophistication could then be a natural part of any further development.

Instead of 'planned obsolescence' and 'psychic obsolescence', high-quality modular products would instead be produced.

The time of overconsumption and waste, the destruction of food and goods will be a thing of the past, which amounts to a huge saving in labor.

The value maintenance and repair sector, repair shops and recycling would be given a much higher value.

A change to alternative mobility concepts and the widespread relocation of logistics to rail would in historical relationship uncover the current relative nonsense of individual automobile traffic, approx. 10m² + 1.4 tonnes (SUVs up to 2.5 tonnes) to transport an average of 1-2 people, including resources and working time to be saved.

There would be a healthier, more sociable and city-enhancing mobility, where cycling and other forms of micro-mobility combined with electrified public transport would be the dominant means of transportation.

Long-distance routes would be made predominantly in expansive and sweeping trains, of which rails could be placed on today's motorways as well.

In the healthcare sector, preventive care would be a priority, and much less medicine would be used.

Due to a low-pollutant, semi-natural environment, pathogenic influences would be largely absent.

There would be a universal cultural change away from the 'money&career+consumerism' doctrine towards more community-oriented values.

Through the involvement of all members of the earth community, the participation of all formerly excluded from the work processes, condemned to unemployment, occupied with sometimes superfluous job creation schemes, especially in the less industrialized, poorer countries, thus a much higher human productive power would be available than it is the case today.

In addition to the already existing and ongoing developments of a largely automated production (including 3D printers, maybe even up to 3D factory street printers in the future).

The school system and education would be much more individualized and practice-oriented, at any rate without grading and selection procedures, and would place the highest value on each adolescent's most distinctive development of intrinsic skills and talents, including team-oriented, group-dynamic methods.

The - caused by financial systems - unspeakable animal suffering, factory farming, animal testing, big game hunting and poaching would then hopefully be over.

All things considered, there would be a shift to a small-scale, decentralized task distribution, which would be in connection with the Universal. Similar to an interplay/interaction of decentralized units and more central units in a network of a regenerative energy supply of humanity.

Local, regional and global institutions would be formed, bringing together suggestions, proposals, ideas, inventions, critiques, issues of disputes and conflicts, etc., expounding them according to subject and local concerns on appropriate Internet platforms in full transparency.

The spectrum would range from local to global, with interregional themes simultaneously written in an intercontinental language. This language would probably be English, while preserving and maintaining the various languages of the world, as well as there could be a renewed resurgence of regional traditions and cultures.

Artisanal and small community workshops for the production of regional products of various kinds would experience a boom. So also the artistic and cultural life.

'Think Global, Act Local!' would be a natural part of the, towards more complex processes aligning, evolving way of thinking.

In all likelihood, a change in character will take place, in the course of a general feeling, that one feels the better,  the more one makes sure that fellow human beings feel better.

Prostitution of any kind, sex industry activities would lose their monetary incentive and go down in history as an epoch.

Women would play, according to their predominantly more pronounced, ur-intuitive dispositions, a much more important role in organizing social processes and structures.

Economic pressures on togetherness relationship models, and marital pair formation, to start and maintain a family would almost dissipate over time. In addition to very individual ways of living, strong and very close partnerships, sometimes lifelong love relationships, there would be cultivated, possibly even predominantly, much more open, promiscuously, multifarious, albeit not conflict-free, interpersonal relationships. Accordingly, a more unbound way in lived sexuality.

There would hardly be any more morbid isolation, without that being recognized and remedied by many sides.

Aging and old people re-integrated and involved into processes of social life, exclusion due to lower efficiency not happen, activities being followed up into old age.

In the discussion of a possible reduction in the world population, such structures, including a more community-oriented and responsible parenting, could be in favor of a steady or declining population.

There would be a more open-minded interaction within the very multifarious community groups, which is characterized by values of respect, appreciation of each other, as well as a positive, critical social interaction.

Narrow-minded, petty leadership claims or pomposity, but also lies&imposture, petty criminal behavior, thievery, extortions, etc. would lose their sense and purpose.

As a result, a penal system would presumably even get by without prisons. Community harming acts would be addressed in a direct manner by the affected community in a way, which then aims to help the causer of damages to learn from this behavior, without the latter having to be locked out or reduced in personal value.

Urban development, residential areas, housing and residential communities would all model themselves according to the changed social structures of living together.

Sharing, bartering, gifting, and a variety of other 'social design' projects would be a key component in the regional / local community.

There would be a lively exchange, in terms of mobility within the framework of environmental sustainability, within and by the entire world population.

It would lead to global intermingling and regroupment, less by shorter faraway vacation trips, rather by long-term work & occupation stays, which could easily be arranged in the context of global net workings, in case world experiences and explorations are individually desired.

Newcomers warmly received, unconditionally and without reservation, sisterly and brotherly, in a cosmopolitan manner.

No mass movements and displacements would have to be absorbed, except that they would have been caused by the aftermath of the ongoing and progressive climate catastrophe or other unforeseeable environmental events.

Not to mention the millions of people in the armies and armaments industries of the world, that war devastation of cities, regions and entire countries wouldn't take place.

Likewise superfluous would be informer networks, spy and monitoring systems.

Incidentally, as one of the first effects: hunger disasters, malnutrition, genocide, exploitative, slave-like employment, child labor, trafficking in human beings, etc. treated first-rate and eliminated en passant!

Questions and problems concerning the possession and the supply of individually adapted needs would have to be clarified. In addition to distribution centers (now stores and department stores), a new distribution principle might have to be developed, or a consciousness should be promoted, which keeps the 'responsibility for the whole' in view.

A current ownership would be maintained. In the later stages of subsequent generations, for example, raffle systems could offer a solution for the more desirable objects in the real estate sector, whereupon their use would be granted for a certain period of time. Until also there a balance in this sector has been reached, or each has found his own individual way of life and dwelling, which would also always be adapted to dynamic changes and local needs.

A third-party property, or a property that is currently operated, managed or used in solidarity, would remain similar in the organizational administration, but in the hierarchical structure develop to models such as 'self-organization in enterprises', 'collective intelligence', etc.

Certainly, these are only rough conceptual drafts for discussion that develop, concretize or vary in further popularity or in the preparatory phase. Also, there will certainly be regional deviant, different developments.

Our main objective and our main task as humanity..

Our main objective and our main task as humanity in this very historical moment in order to keep our ecosystem on earth alive and thereby our world civilization, is to overcome the 'engines of combustion&destruction' of the current 'WorldFinancial&TradeSystem' with the help of the implemented global digital networking..

I would like to give some further reflections, arguments which show a bit why we can't succeed in getting out of fossil energy as a larger part within the next few years keeping our world financial&trade systems, as no other of the big problems can be solved..

Of this amount of 280 trillion USD, as the global sum of investments, assets and shareholdings of the big banks and asset management firms in this world, about 90% is in conservative investment models, closely linked in the most profitable business models (including especially oil, gas & coal), because they guarantee stability and the most of the profit.
No one of the big, often nationally bound investment trusts or banks can deduct their shares within these very few years which are left, in investments which don't bring the same amount of profit, no one is allowed to step back or the competitor could gain advantages in order to determine the rules. Here to mention are especially countries like the USA, Russia, countries of the Middle East, or even smaller countries like Venezuela, Ukraine, etc. depending on these huge revenues by oil&gas. Europe or China would maybe get advantages, if the other leading countries would have to pay a tax (carbon price, etc.) or are cut-off these revenues. Also, these finances can't be transferred in other, less profitable investment models without that the whole system could even crash, as it did almost crash already in connection with real estate investments in 2008.. Furthermore, these transfers or taxations, divestments, etc. could only be implemented globally and simultaneously, but would interfere deeply in global power relations, such that numerous countries economically depending on fossil fuels, like the already mentioned United States of America, Russia, countries of the Middle East, etc. can't and won't participate..! These countries, all connected companies and financial institutes would have to be compensated for their loss of income ongoing.. who would pay, how much and how long for each of them..?

Finally there is only this solution left to keep our ecosystem alive.. a 'currency&trade-free one-world-society'..!

Coincidently, we have a much better 'tool' as an organizational tool for mankind, for our world population.. the implemented global digital network.. which is a much better device than currency&trade systems are.. considered on its own, digital networking has much greater power as an organizational tool than any type of monetary system ever had.. Technologically we could switch them off and transfer our world organization (which is now running mainly using currency&trade systems simultaneously as the driving engine) immediately onto the - therefore prepared - computer systemic global networking, or within only a few months of preparation in order to transfer it at a specific date..

The only thing missing is the consciousness, the conviction and the will of the world population..! If this would be the case, we could go out of all kinds of money&trade systems, of this world financial system, while creating a one world society (keeping all kinds of regional cultures, traditions, religions, languages and so on)..

Now, since the whole world has to fight a survival battle, which can only be won united, it's even essential to get the awareness and the will to overcome our current organizational system.. Maintaining the contemporary world financial&trade system, with all the inherent forces of competition, conflicts and concentration, we don't have any chance to keep our lifeworld alive.. we are forced to do this step forward in human history..!

Therefore, we have to initiate and create a chain reaction towards this solution approach.. that in all countries (about 190, compressed to 150 considering smaller populations) or in 150 regions in this world, that in each of them people or groups would start to activate 150 people of whom each of them might win 150 others and once again each one finds 150.. this amount of people, convinced and activated for this idea, would be sufficient (in India and China maybe a bit more :D), eventually about 500-700 million residents all around the world.. including that in the meantime all kinds of organizations, NGO's, movements, parties, campaigns, networks, conventional and web media, personalities (scientists, politicians, artists & starlets), etc. would start to speak about, overtake or spread this idea.. all together we might initiate a new time era on this planet within the next few years..

Maybe you want to become one of these 150, to spread this idea (an idea whose time has come) and to start discussions about by yourself/yourselves and in your own way :) Eventually everyone becomes one of these 150, that we stand together as one earth population facing the climate crisis, as to resolve all the other problems of our time..

Finally, for this we have to build a global internet platform (e.g. 'Network Currency&Trade.Free-1-World-Society' or another name), with the only aim to initiate a world referendum for the shutdown of all currency&trade systems, the monetary world system at a defined time and to transfer the world organization onto global networks and net-workings prepared for it.. a platform for all people on this world, which connects all organizations, movements, parties, groupings, religious groups, public figures, ordinary people globally.

It's a big thing and it sounds far, but time is running out.. there is no other way than to focus on that, to build awareness, the global consciousness in this direction..!

We are forced to make this decision now, on what we (everybody of us in this world) focus on as the main objective, or it doesn't count any more, because it's too late to interfere effectively halting an ecological breakdown..
There is no other way than that each one of us, no matter in which position, in which region of this world, must become a part of a chain reaction towards this final destination.. That we have to change not only our way of living, to do a paradigm shift – whose effects, in case being universally accepted and successful against the enormous influences of omnipresent and permanent advertising and other media distractions, couldn't be absorbed by labor markets and social systems – but also our way of organization, similar to times when the first monetary systems were introduced a couple of thousand years ago, because societies did increase that much that barter economies were not appropriate any more..

Now the currency&trade systems are not appropriate any more to solve any of the big problems in this world.. the environmental and climate crisis heading towards an ecological breakdown of the world's current ecosystem, the crisis of international conflicts about declining raw materials and resources (especially oil&gas), of trade conflicts and most destructive wars, the social crises (from starvation to working poor), the crisis of worldwide refugee movements and coming population displacements, consequences of overexploitation, overconsumption, abundance and wasting for future generations, soon strong impacts of increasing automation, etc. etc.

Even though now, as it was this big advantage having a period of monetary systems, that it was a tool helping that finally the whole earth population did grow together in a certain way, did intertwine the world (even if, at the same time did create circumstances of concentration, competition and discords, appearing for example as nationalism, religious fundamentalism, racism, different kind of social battles, etc.), now that the whole world is that much related and interdependent, we have to make this step forward in human history as a common international simultaneous step: to transfer the world's currency & trade system onto therefore prepared global networkings (computer systemically decentralized and open-source) to a specific date..

unfortunately, it's a matter of survival in a race against time..!!

"It's Time for a currency&trade-Free OneWorldSociety!  Let's do it!"

 Open letter to all people who don't want to continue the way of self-extinction, of this terrestrial suicide and to 'Extinction Rebellion'!

Dear XR, it's a fatalistic mistake, since you possess the right name (extinction rebellion), passing the tipping points in this very historic moment, in a situation in which it is about all or nothing, to set the strategic direction, that the people of the XR-movement should make pressure on representatives with the help of experts (see remark below). If you don't want to be an 'Extinction Accompany Movement' in reality, I would like to give the suggestion to change in a way that all people who want to avoid the self-extinction, put pressure on all parties, organizations, movements, publishing houses, public figures and all individuals to join together and focus on replacing the world monetary system with the help and on the basis of global networks (computer systemically decentralized and open source) prepared for this purpose at a specific date in the near future, which would only (!) allow the radical change of course, this emergency brake, to face this primordial catastrophe.

It is the only organisational tool able to organise the world doing this extremely necessary radical change of course and to redefine our world civilization averting this catastrophe, while never ever catastrophic events of greater dimensions, were averted and coped by money, by figures & numbers, calculations & sums, taxes & prizes, premiums & bonuses, divestments, stock market indices, price loss, balance sheets, sales volumes, financial yields, dividends & distributions, at financial centers or stock & equity markets & exchanges, with capital investment models and interest rates, speculations & bettings, base rates & balances of trade/key interest rates, trade balance, export surplus, punitive tariffs & penalty payments, trade conflicts & wars, negotiators, acquisitions & takeovers of groups & companies, alliances & coalitions and mergers, etc. etc... or by making pressure on representatives embedded or depending with their economic or individual existence of these systems and machinerie!!

It's a mistake to believe, to hope that representatives could solve this crisis, to extinguish the thousands of fires inside our planetary house. This is an old model, which was and still is intentionally inculcated in people's minds, propagating ongoingly in films and daily media, that heroes and starlets, super politicians, representatives of any kind, now even Greta Thunberg is misused in this sense, that they are the ones who can save the world, like as kings and gods in earlier times, intending that the masses stay inactive, in order to keep real change down..!
Especially now, facing this primordial catastrophe which humanity will hardly survive, this way of thinking is the greatest threat and obstacle to win this fight, to succeed in keeping our planetary lifeworld. Not one catastrophic event has ever been averted and coped by representatives, gods, or by trusting on them..! This is a cultural lie!
Now, as for the future, everyone and everybody has to become an expert and responsible, a politician, a starlet and heroe, a representative of life and nature, has to become an earth-protector..!
"True leaders don't create followers, they activate, empower and create more leaders!"
"Great things are done by (a series of) small things brought together." Vincent van Gogh,
Now in this specific time, in this state of emergency, all inhabitants of this world have to do and to give everything he or she can do and give, not to waste any time in idleness and inactivity, in order to achieve a great global (nuclear) human chain reaction extinguishing all the fires, in order to win this fight, in order to keep our planetary lifeworld in the historically very last minute..!

We don't make it (to keep this lifeworld), if not everybody, especially people, organisations or groups with a bigger range of influence do process this in their own way and starting to spread this solution approach as well in order that it becomes a worldwide agenda item!

 Imaginary speech of Great Greta Thunberg and the Global Youth Strike Movements

"Getting aware of this towering, massing together, fast developing, gigantic primordial catastrophe and seeing that fossil fuels, especially oil and gas, are still generating the most of financial revenues in the world, seeing that almost all conflicts and wars are in regions where there are the biggest deposits and reserves of them, seeing that there is a denial of most evident scientific findings for simple economic reasons, being afraid to lose their respective position in global power structures, seeing this all just as few out of many other aspects, I ask myself why humanity, confronted with such a catastrophe threatening mere human existence on this planet, doesn't organize itself solely on the basis of global networks alone, without that there are any (monetary) economic interests and constraints interfering.. that we try to avert a total unleashing of this catastrophe, to organize this fight about our planetary lifeworld, for our human existence, solely on that bases, in an universal and unlimited cooperation as a global society, in which we exchange and share all the different resources and tasks we have, in which we work together for the benefit of all people on this world, using the capability of the networkings in order to identify, calculate and determine the needs and to connect the different individual intrinsic inclinations, bents, tendencies and skills in millions upon millions of different projects and manufacturings, where there might be need of about 25 'basic working hours' a week for everyone, as a maximum, where we could implement immediately all the so urgently needed massive nature renaturations, instead of producing more and more SUV's and trucks..
Yes, we have to accomplish tremendous emergency measures, doing these vast and massive ecological restoration (reforestations, creation of wetlands, bogs, nature and wildlife reserves, etc.), building a global renewable energy system, modifying the energy supply for houses and buildings, transforming the global mobility system from mass automobility and logistics to sweeping and high clock-rate electrified railbound systems, replacing all air transportation and marine engines with liquid hydrogen drive systems, to restructure the whole of the industries in order to produce durable and highly-quality products, to create an entire recycling system for these goods in a circular economy, changing the global agriculture into organic farmings, giving up livestock and dairy farming to a large part, etc.. and at the same time the removal of trillions of tons of greenhouse gases from the troposphere, the cleaning up of the oceans, rivers and land masses from all (plastic) littering.. for which only very few years are left, which could only be done in efforts comparable to those during World War II..
But, all these efforts can't be organized keeping the world's monetary and trade system, together with its current international power structures, in which every nation is in an extreme competition against each other, generating the most finances possible, in which everyone has to struggle primarily for one's (monetary) 'economical existence'...
Not only because there aren't enough financial resources for such tremendous reconstructions and modifications left in this economic struggle, especially because those would be, in the whole, against the fundamental essence of financial systems, that overproduction, abundance and wasting generates more money, in an endless growth of consumerism, preferably with short-lived products in bulk, and, in the end, that it is much cheaper to burn the most of it or to throw it into the oceans after it is used than to recycle all..

Yes, as a result and to make it short, everybody who wants to keep our planetary lifeworld and with it our human civilization must focus on, to organize this struggle for survival of humanity, solely on bases of global networking, without that any (monetary) economical constraints do interfere, without that any traces of the monetary organizational tool are left... This is our last chance and possibility we have in order to do an 'emergency break', to reduce our lifestyle to an existential (material) minimum, until the whole of the industries, the whole way of producing and consuming, the energy and mobility systems and so on, are rebuild, in a radical change of course, into circular and sustainable economies in accordance with natural processes, evolutions and progresses... Let's see the future not the past!"

About our particular historical situation of world society compared to that between the postwar period until millennium

.. now there are many many civilians seeing and feeling the catastrophe threatening their own existence, it's not that abstract any more, the war front is getting closer and closer.. also the threat of an atomic war still exists, as so many other problems, the social redistribution, etc. all concentrates to an extreme now, is culminating and brought to the boil... which means either we get to an epochal change or we are going to extinct together with our planetary lifeworld.. that's now an all-or-nothing situation.. and the most important and deciding question is, if we make it in this situation to get to a knowledge and an awareness how to get out of all the mess!!
30 years ago we hadn't got really the means to reorganize our world society globally, replacing the organizational instruments, to shift those to something over which is able to redefine and realign the world's organization, designing another one, without such toxic influences on societies as money & trade have...
seeing the chronicles of Facebook, the general and worldwide acceptance of such systems did start about 10 years ago, also considering that the Wikipedia-project did start already 18 years ago as one of the most progressive internet projects.. there are so many groups, websites and channels nowadays, how people organize via different kind of networks/networkings.. just as examples, [https://www.facebook.com/CleanupNetwork/] [https://kartevonmorgen.org/#] [https://www.connectedawareness.org/] [https://wechange.de/] only mentioning some German language platforms or channels..
I know that Facebook or Google are now almost completely only a part of financial interests, and probably of the CIA, but they also show what's possible today.. "A hammer can be taken to build a house or to destroy it!"..
I think all the situation putting together we are in now, is a bit another and more concentrated situation than ever before.. it's a very deciding time and I try, as you do, whatever I can do.. even though also my personal feeling is that we are losing this battle, but what can we do, trying to have some fun until the unavoidable end..?

Lately I attended a lecture of a professor, who stated: "One has to be unrealistic in order to make the impossible possible!" And since, all protest movements fail or tail off, if there is no goal to go for having a real, profound and sustainable change, is that why I go the way which I think could lead us out of the mess, finding and creating a positive vision of our future.. calling for a 'Great Global Human Chain Reaction', for a 'Movement of Movements' and a 'Global Alliance Pro Survival' in order to achieve it.. the salvation of our planetary lifeworld..!

Questions

How would you judge the approach that our planetary lifeworld could only have been preserved, humanity could have saved itself (only) through this, if we globally reposition ourselves with the help and on basis of global networkings (computer systemically open source & decentralized), if we would redefine & reorganize ourselves as one global world society solely on this basis, instead of on basis of money and trade… if we would go out of all monetary, economic constraints, if money and trade as an organizational tool would be given up and shelved, in order to fight this primordial catastrophic event..?

If the current global organization of the world society by means of currency & trading systems turns out to be too rigid and counteracting to stem the general life threatening developments on this planet, to pass the tipping points towards an apocalyptic-seeming climate catastrophe which could bring all higher developed forms of life on earth to an end, or to run into a 3rd world war including millions, billions deaths or (especially in connection) of the complete humanity as well, if this is the case wouldn't it make sense, even be the last chance, to set up the organization of our global society, without the financial systems, based solely on developed and already operating computer systemic global networkings and primarily focusing the raising of awareness towards this one goal, to bundle all synergies, activities and initiatives thereupon?
Say, the shutdown of all monetary systems and world trade from a certain deadline (for example, 01.01.2021) putting the organization of the world society purely on therefore prepared global networkings (computer systemically decentralized and open source).. working for the benefit of the whole earth population!

 What everyone could do if the current particular situation in connection with this approach, as supposedly the last effective measure, has a personal conviction, in order to pass it on:
---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

First: no new idea was ever 'efficacious to greater public', but it is without question the idea whose time has come!! Thus, it is up to the few to bring this idea into snowball systems, where everyone tries to convince his or hers 100 connections (friends, neighbors, acquaintances) to do the same, especially in a direct personal exchange.. to pass this on, as much as possible, also to international contacts as well.. via emails, Twitter, chats, FB posts, websites, reader forums, through surveys.. to use every little opportunity available, for example, to convince tourists to pass this on.. to ask influential people, of cultural and political kind, even wealthiest (after all, it is ultimately about the survival of all people and our all nature) personalities, to make pressure on them until they can no longer avoid to take a stand in public, to discuss this idea in discussions or to mention it in talk shows and interviews, or even convincingly to speak up for it.. also, to confront political organizations, movements, NGO's, initiatives, etc.

or directly participating in them, joining trade union groups.. participate at events that address audiences and speakers, or to give own lectures about it .. trying to generate viral hits on Youtube, Facebook, etc. .. to ask Dok-filmmakers, journalists, creative people, writers, Youtube influencers to process this artistically, in short films, in documentaries, TV&Web reports, in literature, etc.. create own lists of persons/people and organisations to address, be persistant and not giving up, leave some discussion, let some conversation rest, check for some time and start over again, think again, plan new actions .. build and maintain discussion groups and organizational structures, spread this idea in Internet forums or as reader comments.. help to build a platform, over all ideologies, religions, nations, possessions & assets, parties & organizations, a target-oriented Internet platform and in a creation of a global alliance ('Global Alliance Currency & Trade FREE WorldSociety' or 'Global Alliance Pro Survival'?).. and finally to contribute actively and incessantly to the implementation of this great project :)

 Other summarizations:

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

To save our lifeworld on this planet, being in this 'house on fire', we have first to extinguish the major cause of conflagration and the fire accelerant, which is nothing else than our monetary world system which we have to extinguish replacing it fully and completely with the global digital networking(s) or we simply don't have any chance to keep our lifeworld..!

This crisis can only be solved replacing, overcoming and eliminating the 'monetary era' with the 'digital era'!
or
This world can only be saved and transformed In the necessary speed and in that scale introducing the, in history books subsequently really described as that, 'digital era' by replacing fully and completely the 'monetary era' with it!

The world has to hold its breath, to escape ahead and to redefine its civilization!

The influences and effects of monetary systems can not be changed simply by trying to change the effects or by changing only them..

"You never change things by fighting the existing reality. To change something, build a new model that makes the existing model obsolete."  - Buckminster Fuller

The carpet, we need and must lay for a general and universal cooperation, is not on basis of money & trade, it is on the basis of global networking (computer systemically decentralized & open-source), without the influences of monetary systems, free from their inherent constraints of competition, rivalry and concentration! Above all and in particular, in order to keep and to preserve this planetary lifeworld and our human civilization in the historically very last minute.

This, what is going on at the moment, is nothing else than a deadly lifeworld destroying, catastrophic mega event, which we can't avert maintaining the monetary world system! Everybody who doesn't focus on and do everything to overcome them, to shut them off, is finally a part of the destruction of our living world and of ourselves, takes part in the successive 'terrestrial suicide'...

Our last possibility and solution is to shift our world organisation which works now via money and trade completely onto therefore prepared global networking (computer systemically decentralized and open-source) to a specific date (if possible 01.01.2021 at the latest).. This primordial catastrophe, which is going on right now, can't be faced keeping the financial system.. For this we've to initiate a great global human chain reaction to reach this as one of the first goals, together that everybody changes his way of living, for example not to use any combustion engines, e.g. cars, motorcycles, not to fly or going on ship tours, if it is not completely existential or for emergency cases, to eat meat or milk products as little as possible, trying to change the house energy supply into a regenerative one, and to buy only very necessary (regional) consumer products, etc. this as some first emergency measures.. But this won't be enough, the whole system of mobility, industries, building industry, agriculture, wood industry, almost all has to change against the sense of generating and making money..

If we, in this foreseeable sinking of the 'Titanic Lifeworld Earth', do not all act in concert, if the middle classes of the world cling to their combustion vehicles, their round-the-world flights and boat trips, their meat over-consumption and dairy farming, their spending sprees, their monetary incentive and bonus systems, etc., if the rich and super rich cling to the extra ordinary of their world-wide scattered real estate, luxury apartments and villas, private jets, luxury yachts, luxury cars, millions & billions accounts, etc. if they vigorously maintain the current financial systems, though by now a much more intelligent, more powerful tool is already implemented in the organization of the world society, then the salvage does not work, the rescue island is not reached, there is most likely no survival for anyone. We should all be aware of that.

As Prince Charles said in mid-2018 (to Commonwealth Leaders), that there are only a few months left to save our lifeworld.. in front of representatives, world leaders and politicians, people who, since the first scientific findings were available more than 50 years ago, ultimately cannot do anything.. of whom no one gets out of their respective situations, in which everyone is in an extreme monetary-economic struggle for existence, often directly against each other….

The government and politicians, within the constraints inherent in the monetary system, cannot do anything else, if they are bold enough, than to spread this solution approach, to tell the truth that if we keep the world's monetary and trade system, we will not have the slightest chance to survive this catastrophe, that this struggle will be lost in a short time. What is missing is that 'citizens' assemblies' are called into being, not only to alert the world population (which the mass media have largely failed to do since the first scientific findings, because they were and are 'embedded' in the respective national economic constraints), but also to speak the truth that we will not make it, that we are going down the path of inevitable extinction if we maintain the present world organization via money and trade . . to tell the truth that we will only make it if we give it up, shut it down completely and worldwide at a definite point in time and organize ourselves via global (digital) networking to fight this primordial catastrophe globally united for the benefit of all... only in this way we have a tiny and last chance to preserve our living world, to save what already seems to be beyond remedy....

We need a global awareness raising that our main objective as humanity, and for what we have to come together (in a movement of movements), once and for all times, is to transfer the world's monetary and trade system, to end the 'monetary era' with the help and on the bases of therefor prepared global networking (decentralized & open-source) at a specific date in the very near future, as a starting point of the change, inclusive the so absolutely necessary 'emergency brake' or 'break', of all transformation and changes, convinced that without making it to change the overall circumstances, first this primordial catastrophe can't be halted leading into a total self-extinction already in this century, second no real profound, far-reaching change, also in longer-term perspective, is possible for all the other problems we have..

This target date, the transfer of the monetary world system onto therefor prepared global digital networking(s) must be taken as a starting point for real changes and an universal transformation, can only be the real starting point, since only from this moment an unlimited and global cooperation is possible in order to fight really successfully against this primordial catastrophe.. only then, this emergency brake and radical change of course can be initiated and implemented. And in order to tackle equally all other problems of our time of which many of them would be solved almost alongside and automatically by the changed overall circumstances.

This is the key, the missing link in order to open a door, and when this door is opened real change is possible!

There is no other chance to try the impossible.. it's very clear and it's getting clearer and clearer every day, that the world's monetary and trade system is not appropriate to organize the world in its struggle for survival, especially not with its inherent forces of extreme competition, rivalry, concentration and as a result, that everything is done primary to generate the most of money which is possible..
We don't have any other chance than to get them over and to focus to replace the world's organization via therefore prepared global networking in order to face this catastrophe and to do the last possible emergency brake.. And there's no other way than trying to convince all the people, all organisations, all movements, publishing houses, neighbours, friends, everyone, to get this established and accomplished in the next years with and in a great human chain reaction.. I myself use all occasions to speak with people and that they should pass on this awareness raising as much as they can themselves and therefore, what is a great principle of the XR-movement, to create and join 'Citizen Assemblies'.. I use Facebook and emails to address people and groups all around the world, I write to parties, movements, organisations, NGO's and try to speak with their leaders, whenever there's an opportunity.. I address public figures, people on the street, on manifestations and events, family members and friends.. In a way, I did describe it in the longer presentation, as the 'principle of 150'.. For me there's not much other left, because it's simply now the situation of all or nothing.. this is our last and only possibility trying to halt this 'terrestrial suicide'.. every day the final chances are diminishing..

Call for and focus on replacing the monetary world system with therefor prepared global networking before these fatalistic events will take place, which foreseeable are as the main and dystopic incidents: a world war, an unleashed climate catastrophe erasing our planetary lifeworld in a for mankind surprisingly short time, the collapse of the financial system, societal collapses, together with persistant problems as starvation and poverty or abundance and wasting, which all could only be averted and/or coped putting our world organization on basis of therefor prepared global digital networking(s)..!

Humanity, each one of us can only achieve its own self-preservation if the human form of organization continues purely on the basis of global networking (decentralized & open-source)...

Even if this is unpopular at the moment, if the unpopular is not going to be the popular, if this doesn't become very soon the agenda item of everybody and everyone on this world, than 'good night lifeworld earth'...!

This subject is and will be the question of our time to solve or to loose our lifeworld already in this century, starting to collapse at an accelerating speed already in a few decades.. we need an emergency brake and very few years are left..

This is the real 'crossroads of humanity': either the path towards patriotism, dictatorships, nationalism, regionalism, armies, small armies, gang wars, in conflicts & wars for food & drinking water breathing out our existence in the dust of deserts, as the direction of the monetary constraints of the capital+financial & trading system, or the path to grow together as a world society, to redefine, realign and reorganize ourselves purely through global networking, in order to fight and stand together against the greatest (home-made) catastrophe humanity has ever faced...

If this great human project, if this step forward in human organization fails, humanity fails in its struggle for survival!

For this great project of a currency&trade-Free-OneWorldSociety, to pull an 'emergency brake, to do this radical change of course the world has to grow together, has to become one!

Every time has its task, and through the solution of these tasks humanity presses forward (growing together).

The final battle, the fight (for survival) of our time is not people against people!
It's against being fixated and stuck to the monetary world system..!

As much as humanity needs an energy and communication system, as much as we need digital networking, we need to free ourselves from any kind of monetary influences and ways of thinking in order to survive...

We must embrace the idea, dealing with it mentally, preparing ourselves to say goodbye and give up the monetary organizational tool, the monetary system per se, to wean ourselves radically and completely from it, instead to an active, entrepreneurial life in and for the world community solely on the basis and according to intrinsic tendencies and inclinations!

Prepare, come together, connect, act in concert, for a global cooperation and collaboration on basis of global networking for our survival! and the benefit of all as a currency&trade free one world society!

Instead of  'Production  ↔  Money&Trade  ↔  Distribution'
'Production ↔  Networks & Net Working  ↔  Distribution'

If the EU changes to become an equal member among equal members in an equitable, real one world society then the hymn of Schiller 'Ode to Joy' might become one of the hymns of the 'United Earth Population' or 'The United States of the World'...

System change, not climate change!   [that's the known one]

Save our Planet! Replace | Erase the monetary world system with global (digital) networking in global connection & cooperation!

Replace the monetary world system   |   Shut down the monetary world system [fully and completely]   |   with the digital world system!   |   with the help and on the basis of global (digital) networking!   |   [Which only allows the radical change of course!]

Redefine, realign and reorganize the world society solely on the basis of global (digital) networking!

Better an extreme change in our way of living, a paradigmen shift, than extreme weather/climate/floods/heat waves/droughts and climate catastrophe casualties
Better an extreme change in our way of living, a paradigmen shift, than an ecological breakdown and self-extinction!

Extract at least 120ppm of carbon dioxide from the atmosphere!
Now, as fast as possible!  Don't release more greenhouse gases into it!

Mobility needs to be rethought!  |  Mass automobility is the biggest error-culture of the last century!  |  Traffic turnaround now! |  FBikeMobility (BicycleMobility): healthier, more social, city beautifying, quality of life enhancing!  |  F&EBike+Tram&TrainMobility first instead of car+suv+trucks for the masses! |  Engage&Fight for Livable Cities! |  Pedestrians, Cyclists and Micro-Mobilists - Regain the Streets!

did you ever think about that a 'Currency&Trade Free WorldSociety' is possible already now?
that we are able,
for the first time in 'Human History',
to create a 'Global Society',
as an 'One World Society'!
yes we can!
basing it on our
'Computerized Global Digital Network'! which has the power to overcome
all kind of 'Currency&Trade-Systems' as an organizational tool in our societies!
which has the power to replace all kind of 'National&Regional Financial Systems' connected in this 'Global Financial System'!
yes we can!
if the majority of the people has the awarness and the will to transfer our system of organization, putting it onto the
'Global Digital Networking' and developed
'Systems of Mass Collaborations'! which are already used by global companies to organize hundreds of thousands of employees all around the world not using it as an instrument of total surveillance, profiling and personalized advertising or manipulation but using it in order to live in a resource-based, sustainable, environmental protecting,
modern 'World Civilization' overcoming as well starvation and poverty as abundance and wasting
yes we can!

maybe first it sounds a bit fantastic and utopic on closer inspection maybe not at the third sight,
we don't have even any other choice
if we want to save this planet of overconsumption&overexploitation, trade conflicts, continental wars and the starting of apocalyptic processes of the climate change
to prevent of passing the tipping-points
in the near future!

Our World can become one Great Family
as a Currency&Trade
FREE

PS: All created texts and ideas are completely 'free content'. If parts of them or even all are liked, passages can be copied, used and declared as his or her own. That would even be great.

Now and in the future, as this is currently the question of survival, it is no longer a matter of representatives, shining lights and leadership personalities, but of swarm initiatives, impulses, developments, networking, intelligence, behavior, activities, and that the reality in the perceived truth is correctly recognized, processed and created ..
