Speed Up Article Writing with Templates

Templates are one of the best ways you can speed up the article writing process. There are many great article templates out there for you to choose from and you can also create your own. They are fully customizable so you can tweak them however you need so that you can write faster than ever before.

When you have an article template already laid out in the word processing program that you use to write your articles, all you have to do is open the template you need when it's time to write an article and then just fill in the content as needed.

You could use different templates for the different types of articles you write such as:

- Tips article template
- How-to article template
- News article template

And you can also use templates based on where you will be submitting the article to. This helps you ensure more quickly that you follow the guidelines for that particular place you're writing for. When you already have the templates saved, all you have to do is open them up and begin writing your new article.

This will save you a great deal of time when preparing and formatting your articles. However, it can also help you speed up your article writing by guiding you on what to write about. This method works because it will help you keep your articles focused and to the point. When you follow a template that includes all of the important parts of an article, it's almost like a fill-in-the-blank article waiting to happen.

Have you ever had a great idea for an article, started it and then got stuck after the intro or halfway through it? Maybe you feel like you don't know what to say next or how to properly close your thoughts in a conclusion. This is exactly the type of problem that article templates help you with.

When you use article writing templates, you can plow through your list of article topics like never before. Sometimes the templates themselves can serve as topic ideas. These might include topic starters like:

- My funniest memory of...
- A day in the life of...
- A year of reflection...
- Seasonal articles
- Holiday articles
- Etc.

Keep in mind that article templates are meant to be guidelines to help speed up your article writing process. They should not stifle the creative process that goes into writing and you should never feel like you have to stick with a strict template when your creative juices are sending you in another direction.

If you're not using article templates, you could be missing out on a great advantage when it comes to writing your articles. When you use templates, it can greatly speed up your writing process and help you write better articles.

In the article writing community, we hear a lot of talk about templates. There are some great article templates out there and they can really help you speed up your article writing process when you learn to use them properly.

But remember that you don't have to use someone else's template exactly as it is. You might decide that you want to change or tweak it to fit your needs and there's nothing wrong with this either. Since the article template is meant to be a tool to help you write better articles faster, you can change it and tweak it however you need so that it works for you.

Whenever you feel stuck on an article or have a title or topic but need a boost getting started on the article, you can turn to your templates. They will also help you with an article a day type challenges and with doing your own article marketing. As you can see, it pays to use article templates and you can start today.

You hear a lot about article templates but how often does someone actually show you one for free? I've seen many free article templates out there and the one thing that almost all have in common is that they aren't really that helpful. Here are some of my favorite mini-templates that will help you get started writing articles and they're completely free!

Wishing you much article writing success,
