

HOMESAFE Press Info

BIO:

Born during the height of the 2010s pop-punk hype, listening to Homesafe takes you right back to where they were formed, on a hot summer day in Chicago, Illinois. A trio of EPs (“Homesafe” in 2014, “Inside Your Head” in 2015, and “Evermore” in 2016) put them on the map, catapulting the band into the world of touring across North America, both as headliners and as openers to friends that they met along the way. Their first studio album “ONE” (released via Pure Noise Records in 2018) solidified their dedicated fanbase and won over any stragglers with a matured sound, straying from their previous genre’s cliches and speaking on topics ranging from fighting bigotry to falling in love at first sight. This record took Homesafe to Slam Dunk in the UK, their first international headliner in Japan, and across the US once again. The band’s invigorating live presence and a few experimental singles carried them into the music industry’s shutdown in 2020 before they emerged once again in late 2021 with the surprise release of a brand-new LP titled “Nervous Reaction.” At the core of all of these tours and releases? A deep passion for simply getting to play and share music. “We are as much of a ‘band’ as a band gets,” says vocalist and bassist Tyler Albertson. “We just love to make music and have fun at our shows with people that enjoy what we do.”

HOMESAFE is:

Tyler Albertson - Vocals, Bass

Ryan Rumchaks - Vocals, Guitar

Emanuel Duran - Drums

FOR FANS OF:

QUOTES:

“Permanent Resolution is a song about being a fool for someone you love. Your entire world revolves around them. You would do anything for their happiness, even at your own expense.”

“We recorded this song with the intention of capturing a ‘down bad’ and ‘head-over-heels’ feeling for someone while keeping the song very upbeat and energetic. You want to be able to empathize with their emotions but still have fun while listening.”

“We plan to release this song to promote an upcoming full US tour, with a music video and live performance video to accompany it.”
