So, senior leadership team and I we sat down a while ago and decided whether we went to the Google route or the Apple route. We decided to go through a mixture of both because the Apple route gives our students the opportunity to take Photos and use this.

They can use their digital skills easily, so it gave them the mobility to go around and use that. Whereas the Chromebooks gave the teachers an opportunity to present learning to the students with word banks. They use Google's Slides for lesson presentations. Word processing as well was used through Google Docs, and that just gave our students an ease to use the Chromebooks with.
