

Word Count: 1377

Features:

SOULS BETWEEN

AveyFish: Benjamin, Hellar, Lai, Cassian

Askila Deamon: Jackali, Raffas, Cyrus, Raveshka

+ Celestial Feline (On Hellar) + Guidance of the sun (On Benjamin) + Confetti Dreams (On Cassian)

With Spring comes life and a newfound happiness - the sun returns to the skies, for much longer than the winter season, thus, making dragons and riders happier with more vitamin D while out in the lovely sunshine. That being said, the lands, near and far, have arranged an egg hunt of sorts - the activity named "Egg & Seek". The task is simple - how many eggs will your dragon find before the time is up?

Depict your dragon searching for eggs - not ones that can hatch, but the silly, dyed eggs with lovely patterns. Is your dragon a frantic searcher, or are they taking their time, making sure no rock goes unturned, or any tree goes left unshaken?

Alternatively, if your dragon isn't much for games, depict your dragon sitting at the sidelines, watching the festivities - are they snacking on the foods provided by a nearby buffet, or are they just relaxing while watching the other dragons play? Or, maybe, they're ornery and bored with the loud noises and silliness of the hunt?

Jackali didn't pay more attention to those others. Though hellar was running up and she couldn't help but squint. "... You look like hounder... Annoying." she commented a bit quietly. Looking off to the side. That dude was weird, even to her. Her tail flickered once, then she looked over to ben again. "alright, now go find the eggs." She spoke, waving them into the right direction. It was about time he would succede. Her tail wifted through the sand once then she continued to walk to where they wanted to go.

Raffas kept his eyes towards the nice red sky above. Hmm now being at the beat would be fantastic.. instead of here, running after a child. But he wouldnt bring that up. it would upset jackali he was sure. Cyrus was letting his head hang down. He missed his family a little. Though he knew it wasnt forever til he could see them again but. he still did really miss them...

Rave snickered at the one seeming to say sorry for ben. Why though. It was all good~ Smiling she followed after them, watching how the celestial feline that was with Hellar peeked up over their back to peer in their direction. Wondering why Hellar had paid any attention to them.

Hellar paused a little as Jackali commented on her appearance, looking toward the desert spirit briefly. Hounder... Who the fuck was that? was she supposed to care? She didn't know but the comment at least made Benjamin snicker a little bit. Evidently he found that thought to be funny. It didn't feel entirely right to him- Hounder had a few too many heads while Hellar had one but perhaps since they were both ridgewalkers it would count? STill though. That wasn't his main focus.

He had a basket- eggs were being run out in front of them- He could hear the ervants of lai running to try and hide some more so he knew there would be some somewhere. He just needed to find them and everyone else who was here didn't matter! He went close to the small oasis that was in the center of the town, lifting his nose up and sniffing at the air. Just moments ago it had been filled with people, everyone gathering to escape the heat but now it was empty save for them. No one wanting to risk bothering Jackali in her hunt.

She seemed to be so excited for Benjamin to find these eggs and both Lai and cassian followed a bit further behind in disbelief. Slowly Cassian unfurled his wings and were to hop forward, coming to land on Hellar's back but this time he did so gently. He didn't squish her into the sand but he rested on her as he watched the others, he opened his mouth to ask a question then closed it again and instead of Hellar he moved to jump towards Rave. Lai follwing after to approach the obsidian Sapiere

Cassian came to land on her back and lean in close to her ears. "Do you know what the relationship is between the two of them?" Cassian asked in a quiet whisper as Benjamin made it to the waters edge. He touched at it briefly and the water of the oasis rippled forward before he turned to the side. If the water was there- then there should be a tree a little to his left. So he went to his left and were to start to nose around at the base of it. Circling in search of an egg but it wsn't an egg he found right away. It was a rock. And he pulled it away to tap at it.

Rave looked up as someone landed on her back. She blinked at the figure, then clicked her tongue. "Nope. Im still New." She commented calmly. Then looked uo ahead again at the sun that was high in the sky. It was so hot here but she rather liked that and easily went to continue her marsh. But raffas sighed out. "He is that kid that got raised by the phoenix, isn't he?" He commented a bit bored. Words over which cyrus frowned. The phoenix? The one and most top Spirit of them all? "... so. He is a Spirit too?" They questioned now talking for the first time bit. Raffas shoke his head. "No. He's just a dragon like us."

Jackali watched Benjamin closely as he was searching. She eyes the tree. And watched how Ben picked up a stone. She blinked... Well. That was expected. But he could do it! She saw there where eggs there. She saw one. He would find it. She didn't not interfere at all. HE had to find them all by himself. So she would not interfere. She would not break his honor!

They didn't know either huh? Cassian let out a displeased huff of a sound as he nestled down more on their back while lai sighed- until Raffas were to speak up. What? Their gaze went towards the iridescent warden. Raised by the phoenix? Was there someone like that? they lai looked forward again to watch. Hellar was a bit beside Jackali, quietly cheering benjamin on in their search but she could feel eyes prickling at her back and so she looked over to see Cassian and Lai staring at her. Intently. What did they want...

Quietly she wandered back towards them and as soon as she was close Cassian reached a wing over to pull her close. "Who did ya bring to our town??" He asked in a whisper and Lai came to circle around them a little as well.

"You said he was just a no-one ya wanted to let rest safely for a bit- but there's a chance he was raised by the phoenix??" He asked too and Hellar froze up. Quietly she laughed and looked over her shoulder towards where Benjamin was.

The angora had picked up the stone then seem annoyed it wasn't an egg and chucked it over into the oasis to then continue the search. He circled around the tree once more and his nose would come mere inches away from the hidden egg. So close one could almost feel it. Just almost- because he didn't feel it! He did however find another rock which was chucked into the waters before moving forward towards the next tree. Not finding the egg that Jackali had spotted.

"... Listen" Hellar said quietly. "He's just one of the kid's who came to my arena frequently, he aint ever talked about who might have or might not have raised him! But he's a good kid so ain't no need for ya to worry..." The celestial feline agreed with her once more. It didn't know what was being said but it would always agree! That being said, Hellar would be lying if she said this didn't catch her off guard a little as well. She always knew he had someone strong backing him but... The spirits themselves?

Jackali slightly looked after Ben who missed the egg.... Well. What he didnt get! She would ~ as Ben had left, she reached down and picked up the egg. It was her egg now~ grinning she marshed after Ben with a rather satisfied expression. Maybe Ben didn't find the eggs but she could let her hoard grow no problem!!!

Rave snickered quietly at that but the conservation of these other three caught her a bit. "...raised by the phoenix? Seems unlikely. Isn't he hot like the sun? How could anyone survive someone who SLEEPS in MAGMA." She pointed out. Something cyrus Was nodding and agreeing over. "I heard he is rather cruel too. Differently from jackali, cause he doesn't care for people at all! It doesn't matter if you respect him or not." They Added in. Really phoenix Was a very feared dragon. But raffas just shrugged halfhearted. " He was with him is what the ocean Spirit told me." He pointed out. Watching Ben leave a egg for jackali and continue his track.

It was kinda pitiful how he didn't manage to find the egg. It was either skill or luck to be able to find so many egg-like rocks but never actually find the egg itself.
