To claim:

Create a reddit/4chan tipbot that reaches 10k users.

This is how we get to the moon.

These are two holy grails for dogecoin. Redditors could replace reddit gold with something that has REAL INTRINSIC VALUE(wow, such fact). And fine gentoomen could finally have a stable way to pay for people to poop on thinkpads.

What is reddit gold? I think you mean dogecoin.

Have some dogecoin based op.

It must happen.

We could be looking way past moon territory. We could even reach Uranus.

For those of you that don't know... fundamentally there is no major difference between litecoin and dogecoin(or a majority of the other cryptos for that matter). They work and behave almost exactly the same. Litecoin is worth more because it has more uses/users(for now)... more software developed for it. Bitcoin even more so.

Neither of those or any other crypto caught on like dogecoin has. This adoption rate is INSANE... totally unheard of! No other coin has had people conducting real transactions with it so spontaneously. Dogecoin is a functioning currency. Not a joke anymore. We are all millions of dollars and laughing at YOU doge-doubters.

So remember...dogecoin is something big. Its potential is so much greater than just a meme or fad. If we can get this stuff circulating and acting as a medium of exchange on any of these websites then this thing is fucking lightyears big maybe even as big as Betelgeuse(thats like the biggest sun in the world,idiot(easily trillions -- private jets/space stations assured for all)).

Just keep digging... just keep digging... just keep digging...
