AML-476, discovered for the first time.

Codename: AML-476

Filename: The Colourful Titan

Containment Class: Thaumiel

Threat Level: Blue

Containment Chamber: N/A

Containment Zone: “The Colourful Island”

Site: N/A

Special Containment Procedures: Due to AML-476’s nature and current location, its containment is unnecessary. However, AML-476 must be monitored at all times, and any suspicious action done by AML-476 must be reported immediately to Dr. [REDACTED].

AML-476 has currently shown to be passive; as such, any aggressive behaviour shown by AML-476 must be reported to the A5 Council. AML-476 is not permitted to leave the colourful island except for recontainment operations.

Communicating with AML-476 via sign language needs approval of 3 level 4 researchers and 2 A5 Council members; doing this without authorization is a reason for termination.

Description: AML-476 is a humanoid entity standing approximately 179.52 feet (54.72) meters in height. AML-476's skin is performed by colourful patterns, each pattern is performed by a different color, with an exception on the head.

AML-476 behaves friendly to humans, it has also shown it wants to help the AML Foundation, leading to its Thaumiel classification. AML-476 has done multiple re-containment operations, most of them were successful.

AML-476 has shown to have relations with AML-474 and AML-473, the origin of those relations is unknown.

AML-476 is carnivorous, and despite its sedentary nature is capable of moving quickly to dispatch prey. Despite its size, it is theorized that AML-476 does not require food for staying alive. What happens if AML-476 doesn't eat for a long period of time is currently unknown.

AML-476's origin indicates it has access to an axe that makes it insanely powerful. AML-476 refers to the axe as a "battle axe"; it was confirmed by AML-476 that AML-474 founded this axe for it.

Recent investigations have revealed that AML-476's axe comes from a location called [REDACTED]. The axe that AML-476 has in its power has shown to be capable of absorbing ranged attacks such as laser beams or thunders.

AML-476 apparently can communicate via sign language, some of the words it has said are:

- Thank you.
- Home.
- I don't feel good.
- Friend.
- Goodbye.
- Hello.
- Sure.
- Alright.

- I'll try.
- Wish me luck.

Addendum 476-1: AML-476 has expressed a tremendous rivalry with AML-7000, this was confirmed by myths which theorized the AML-476 and AML-7000 species had a war in the past. (see addendum 476-2 below)

Addendum 476-2: AML-476's axe has shown to be able to perfectly block AML-7000's atomic breath, making 476's axe stronger.

Addendum 476-3: A crystal in the bottom of AML-476's axe indicates when the axe is fully charged. If the axe becomes fully charged by ranged attacks, it will be able to cut through anything. Up to the moment, there's no material on earth that has been able to survive AML-476's axe when fully charged.

Addendum 476-4: AML-476's species are at risk of extinction, with AML-476 being the only specimen alive on earth.

Addendum 476-5: When AML-476 was discovered for the first time, it was 21.74 meters tall. This confirms AML-476 is constantly growing in size, it is unknown if AML-476 has a growth limit.

Animate: Yes

Full Name: Unknown

Alias: The Colourful Protector, The King of the Colourful Island, The Guardian

Origin: AML-476 was born in war, approximately 5000 years ago, in a city that was destroyed and no longer exists.

The AML-476 species were having a war with the AML-7000 species, both species were almost extinct during the war.

Now AML-476 and AML-7000 are the only ones of their species alive on earth, waiting for each other to fight to death.
