I leave to myself the right to refuse any type of commission I may find myself uncomfortable with, but am pretty open to many topics, so feel free to ask!

- I may refuse your commission if I feel that I may not do justice to your character, I will tell you so right away if that happens
- my commissions are paid for via paypal through boosty (preferable), or straight up on paypal, please do not send payment until I ask
- I take full payment upfront
- after payment commission may be refunded only in case it is not finished yet, and the refund will be cut back accordingly to the work already done. I. E. if a customer orders full rendered piece and I made a sketch, the amount refunded will be deducted for the price I usually take for the sketch commission. If for some reason I find myself unable to deliver a commission, full price will be refunded
- I will send WIP pictures after I made sketch for your commission, further you can ask for WIP screenshots at any time
- major changes may be done only BEFORE I do the lineart, any pose/expression etc changes after that will be charged extra depending on complexity
- please provide clear reference for your character, unless it's a custom commission

- finished artwork will be sent to you via sta.sh/discord link, containing watermarked, unwatermarked version of the finished picture and in case it is a fully rendered custom, version without background
- please post watermarked/signed version if provided and credit the work
- work for commercial use will be charged extra, but printing my art for yourself non-profit is ok
- backing out of commission on customer's side, such as paypal refunds, without discussion with me will result in permanent ban from ever using my services in the future and a public warning
- please only contact me for commission if you are over 18

By default, I use all my work to promote myself on my socials or for my portfolios. If you do not wish for your commission to be posted on any or all sites, please warn me in advance! No posting by me at all will come with a 10% extra charge.

By commissioning me you are agreeing to my terms of service whether you've read it or not!

T.O.S. are subject to change if necessary!
