

Certification Based on Credentials from Another Country

Who may apply?

Individuals who hold the equivalent of a bachelor's degree granted by an accredited institution of higher education in the United States, who have completed an educator preparation program, including a teaching practicum, and who hold an appropriate educator certificate or credential issued by another country may apply for a review of out-of-country credentials.

Please see additional information from TEA.