

My best friend

Once upon a time there was a boy um actually I mean me I live in Harbin. It is a very cold country mammoths exist. They are be loved species if you find one you go away. If I found one I would run right away If it says because I speak mammoth.

I went out for a walk one day when I Jack found a mammoth oh it was wonderful. The mammoth was stuck in ice I had to help it. So I grabbed a hair dryer and got to work. I had almost finished when ice fell on me the mammoth smashed out of the ice and chucked off all the ice I was relieved. Then the mammoth said " I love this place I am gonna live here with my best friend".

The next day the mammoth came and had a picnic with them then we looked away for 1 second. He was gone oh no we looked everywhere. Until we found with his family he was so happy he said he would still visit. I was still I wanted to see him everyday. But I could not. But I knew he would be happier there. I whispered to him " you will always be my best friend"

The end
