

Gryffle-Wyffle Flower

This plant grows naturally in Australia and looks a whole awful lot like a sunflower for some weird reason. As we've mentioned before, like everything from Australia, it wants to fuck you up. It is fiercely independent and determined to survive so honestly just let it be. Fortunately it can't just fuck you up as it stands rooted in the ground, but if a Rookanga or other Australian pottamon eats it while grazing and flatulates anywhere in your vicinity...it will fuck you up. Badly. As in rest in peace badly. This is why Australia is nearly uninhabitable - because of kangaroo-looking rookangas eating sunflower-looking gryffle-wyffles and then shitting their non-existent pants.

Pictures: Rosiee04

Writing: Me