EARTH WEEK APRIL 18-22 EVENT TIMELINE

CALENDAR FACEBOOK EVENT EVALUATION FORM

ATTEND ANY EVENTS & COMPLETE THE EVALUATION FORM TO BE ENTERED INTO A GIVEAWAY!

MONDAY, APRIL 18TH

12:30 - 1:30pm An Introduction to Forestry

Where: MLK bNorth 82D Conference Room

This will be an introductory lecture on broad topics in forestry. The goals of the lecture are to enlighten the world to the wonders of forestry, provide exposure to the different forms of forestry, and make forestry accessible for a diverse audience. We hope to accomplish this by going over: 'What is forestry?', California forestry history, conifer anatomy, general forest structure, forest disturbance, forest management, more information on the interdisciplinary aspects of forests, and climate change & forestry. We hope to see you there!

2:00 - 4:00pm Our Herbicide Free Future

Our Herbicide Free Future
Community Teach-in and Weeding Day

- Learn about herbicides within environmental justice movement
- Hear personal experiences from UC Berkeley campus gardeners and HFB members
- Participate in a community weeding day!

Between Durant Hall and Wheeler Hall

Monday April 18th 2:00-4:00pm

DM us @Herbicidefreeberkeley with any questions!

Where: between Durant and Wheeler Hall

An outdoor community teach-in and weeding day event where we can come together to discuss Herbicides & Environmental Justice. There will be music, snacks, chalk art, and opportunity to get directly involved with the Herbicide-Free Movement on Berkeley's campus! Two members of the UC Berkeley groundskeeper and gardener crew will share their experience and work with creating herbicide-free green spaces. Students running Herbicide Free Berkeley will speak about the origins of this movement on campus as well as ways that people can get more involved. Following this educational portion, we will be having a community weeding day where attendees can get hands-on experience with the Herbicide Free Campus Movement!

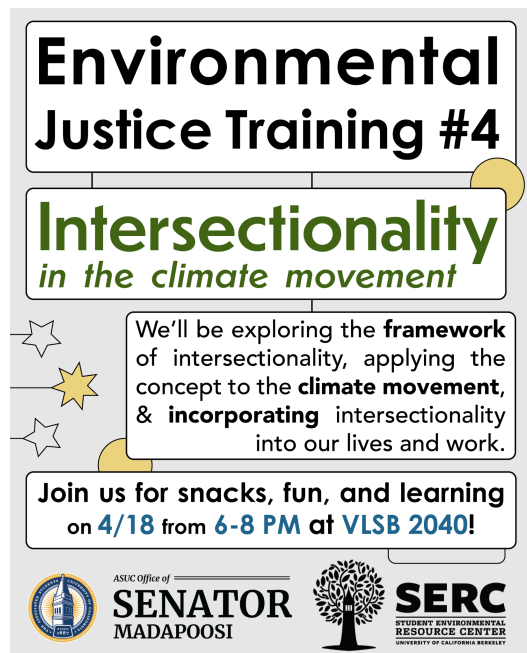

4:00 - 5:00pm Berkeley Student Food Collective: Airtable for Organizers

Where: Zoom @ www.foodcollective.org/airtable

As labor organizer and UC Berkeley professor Jane McAlevey says, there are “no shortcuts to building power.” However, there are powerful digital tools that can supplement our movements’ organizing, particularly databases that can help us keep track of the complex relationships between our people and organizing targets. The Berkeley Student Food Collective, our organizing-focused, democratically-run community grocery store, uses Airtable to automatically track and communicate with our members about just about everything. Learn more about how to use database tools like Airtable to be able to better track and manage your own organizing projects so you can focus on building the deep relationships necessary to build power.

6:00 - 8:00pm ASUC Eco Office and SERC Environmental Justice Training

Where: VLSB 2040

<https://berkeley.zoom.us/j/7814089771>

SERC and the ASUC Eco Office are kicking off Earth Week with our fourth and final Environmental Justice Training event on Intersectionality in the Climate Movement with you on Monday, April 18th from 6-8 PM in VLSB 2040. We will be discussing the framework and history of intersectionality, applying the concept to the climate movement, and analyzing our own work & lives with an intersectional lens. We can't wait to see you there for our final event!

For context, this training was built in response to growing demands for resources related to environmental justice in the past year. Together, SERC and the ASUC Eco Office built 4 training modules in related subjects for sustainability-oriented RSOs. In light of the COVID-19 pandemic and protests, we strongly believe that it is important for us as a community to reinforce our understanding of what environmental justice and intersectionality are in order to ensure that we're moving forward as a justice-oriented, sustainable student body at Cal. This training will focus on Intersectionality and its role in climate movements. We're bringing joy and community into this event to make this enjoyable and educational!

Please fill out this RSVP form so we can get an accurate headcount for the training! Super excited to see y'all there for this important event :^)

UC BERKELEY SOCIAL SCIENCE MATRIX

Berkeley bright green
Office of Sustainability & Energy

AUTHORS MEET CRITICS

Engineering Vulnerability:
In Pursuit of Climate Adaptation

Friday, April 22, 12:00pm-1:30pm Pacific

This panel will be presented in person at Social Science Matrix (820 Social Sciences Building) and will also be streamed online via Zoom. Register in advance to attend.

In Engineering Vulnerability, Sarah E. Vaughn examines climate adaptation against the backdrop of ongoing processes of settler colonialism and the global climate change initiatives that seek to intervene on the lives of the world's most vulnerable. Focusing on the case study of Guyana in the aftermath of the 2005 catastrophic flooding that ravaged the country's Atlantic coastal plain, Vaughn details why climate adaptation has implications for how we understand the past and the continued human settlement of a place, and exposes the generative openings as well as gaps in racial thinking for theorizing climate action, environmental justice, and more broadly, future life on a warming earth.

Panelists

- Sarah Vaughn, Assistant Professor of Anthropology, UC Berkeley
- Stephen Collier, Professor of City and Regional Planning, UC Berkeley
- Sugata Ray, Associate Professor, Departments of History of Art and South and Southeast Asian Studies, UC Berkeley
- Daniel Aldana Cohen (moderator), Assistant Professor of Sociology, UC Berkeley

This panel is presented as part of the Authors Meet Critics event series and is co-sponsored by the UC Berkeley Office of Sustainability. Registrants will receive a Zoom link prior to the event.

UgSC · SEED · CASA · PASAE · BUSSA · AIAS · ASLA · CHAOS · Living Futures DeCal · Planet Renu + more!

ASUC Sponsored · ADA Accessible

Where: Wurster Hall East Courtyard

CED UgSC (Undergraduate Student Council) is planning an event to raise awareness for CED student organizations as an opportunity to get to know one another as well as potential new members. The event will be held on Earth Day (Friday April 22nd, 2022) from 2pm to 5pm at the Wurster Hall East Courtyard. Each club is welcome to join us and set up a station/table with an earth day themed activity (ex: upcycling, plant giveaway, or any DIY project). Students who attend will come and go and participate in your activity, while learning about the student organizations that participate!

5:30 - 7:00pm Slow Fashion, Textile Waste, and How to Mend Your Own Clothes

Where: SERC Space

This event will include a presentation on the fast fashion industry, its role as a primary polluter, what to look for in more sustainable clothing options, and tips on how to prolong the life of your items to promote landfill diversion.

OTHER NOTABLE EARTH DAY THEMED EVENTS!

Botanical Garden Adventure! Sat, April 23, 12:00-3:00PM. Discovery Stations will be located throughout the Garden from 12:00 pm to 3:00 pm. Bring a picnic and enjoy one of the most plant diverse places on the planet.

Conversation with internationally distinguished author Amitav Ghosh at the Institute for South Asia Studies (virtual), Sat, April 23, 3:00–4:30PM. Drawing from writings and against the backdrop of the COVID pandemic and Black Lives Matter protests, Ghosh will discuss how the history of resource exploitation and the extractive mindset is directly connected to the deep inequality we see around us today.

Multidisciplinary Perspectives on Climate Displacement (in-person and live streamed). Mon, April 25, 5PM. Faculty members of UC Berkeley's new cluster in climate equity and environmental justice will explore how the acceleration of climate change is causing an increase in sudden disasters and massive climate displacement for people across the world.

Plant-Based & Planet-Friendly - Be Well at Work - Wellness Program (zoom), Thu., April 28, 12:10-1PM. For UC Berkeley faculty and staff- Eating lower on the food chain uses less natural resources and provides your body with loads of valuable nutrients. Whether it's a meatless meal once a day or week, or eating mostly plants at every meal, there are benefits to your health and your planet. Demonstration and recipes provided.
