

GROUP 5

Collaborative short stories

Topic: Solidarity

Subtopic:

Title: Humanity

Once upon a time there was one homeless person sitting in the street and begging for money. That homeless person was John from the UK. John had a really rough childhood, he was an orphan and after that terrible accident he had depended on himself. He had a very hard life and he lived day by day.

One morning he was sitting in the street and begging for money like he usually does. He was sitting in front of the grocery shop "SEMIRA". The shop owner just came to open the shop and saw him sitting next to the door. He asked her for money but then she started screaming at him. She told him that he needs to earn money by himself like she does. The homeless person was in front of that shop every day for 3 years and then one day the shop owner didn't see him and she was confused and actually worried. A few days later she found out that he won't come back.

Two years later the shop owner had to close shop because of her debt. She lost her shop and she is begging for money in front of one of the best companies in the world. She decided to come to that company and tried to apply for a job. She was surprised to see John in front of her. John was the company owner. He remembered her and at the same moment he asked her what she was doing here.

She started to cry and beg for a job like he was begging her for money many years ago. She told him that she lost her shop and explained the situation. John was a really good person and he knew exactly what a woman was going through so he decided to give her job in his company. In this story it is not important who you are and how much money you have.

The only thing that matters is to be HUMAN.

Authors:

Lara Uremovic,Croatia
Semira Hadjinikolova,Bulgaria
Francesco Agostini,Italy
Brigita Cosic,Croatia
Ema Turniski,Croatia
Yusuf islam Ince,Turkey