

First e-mail:

Subject line: Claim your secret formula

Congratulations, you have gotten the free guide on how to advertise your products.

This will guide you step by step and you'll see the actual ads you could use and how you could publish them FOR FREE.

Here is the link to download the free e-book guide:

\(Link\)

Now that you sign up, your journey has started.

From now on, we'll help you with advertising your products through the tips we'll send to you every week.

Stay tuned!

Regards,

Nayef Albaghli

P.S.: The next email subject would be: I quit my job to become financially free, and things went way differently than expected...

If you don't like to be informed about the latest tips you'll need to improve your advertising, that's totally OK. You can unsubscribe here.

Second E-mail

Subject line: I quit my job to become financially free, and things went way differently than expected...

Hey, this is me, Jordan, and I want to share my story of becoming financially free with you

It was this time when I felt I can't tolerate working a 9 to 5 for the rest of my life.

I worked as a cashier at Walmart.

Spending every day just scanning items.

And I have to admit that this job although it got me enough food to eat, I was still feeling there was something wrong.

I asked myself: Is that how I am going to live for the rest of my life? Do I have a plan for what will my situation be like after 5 or 10 years?

These feelings and questions made me realize if I stayed like that, I will never grow.

I could compensate for these depressing feelings by playing video games. But isn't that mean I am lying to myself?

Treating myself like a donkey whose rider motivates it to move by showing a carrot in front of its face?

Isn't life the same as video games when it comes to growth? That you can upgrade your character in both of them?

That just made me realize how dumb it would be to accept to live like a donkey.

There is a reason why we enjoy video games. It is in our brains. We, humans, are supposed to grow, but instead of growing in real life, we grow and decide to grow in video games.

So I had 2 paths to choose from,

1. Continue living this way of life and silence the human survival instinct to grow using video games
2. Choose to upgrade my character in real life and start to grow for the first time

I decided to upgrade my character in real life. This was the option that made sense to me. Because this is how our brains work, and this is its purpose.

Then I went into my manager's office.

I told him that I want to sign my letter of resignation. My manager looked down for a second and then asked me: OK Jordan, Good luck then, but I am curious about the reason why you decided to leave your job suddenly. And I said to him that I will launch my own business.

He spits his coffee out of his mouth laughing, and he then said: Oh Jordan, you always make me laugh. Do you think you are lucky enough to have your own business? Listen, son, I will give you an opportunity to stay because if you left, you will get yourself in big trouble.

I said: No, success isn't about luck, it is about hard work! And you'll see about that. I will prove to you that you are shallow and stupid as fuck.

He said: "Alright Jordan, here is the paper, just sign here and put in your information and you are good to go".

I went home to finally start my journey of growing in real life! I thought OK, now that I left my job to grow, what can I do? Then an idea came to my mind to make an online business. Imagine how crazy it would be to just work on your laptop and travel the world at the same time.

I searched for online business ideas but my mind had no idea what to do, until I found a message on my phone from someone saying that he feels insecure about the shape of his body, and because of that he doesn't know how to approach his crush about his feelings.

This inspired me to know that there are many people who want to change their bodies. And as a result, I decided to become a fitness coach.

I straightly went to my desk and started working on my fitness website, I recorded myself doing all the types of training that target all part of the muscles that ensures building an aesthetic physique, and I also put diet plans and wrote on the sales page that I will personally check the progress of all the members who will subscribe to my fitness program. And I eventually made it in 3 days.

It is now the fourth day, the fifth, the seventh, and the fifteenth, and during these days, I started to feel disappointed. No one has ever subscribed to my program!

And as I recognized it is time to pay the rent of my apartment, terror seized me quickly! I had no enough money to pay the rent because I didn't have a job. It was a stupid decision to immediately remove my only source of income just because I thought that things will inevitably go smoothly as I wanted and get money quickly.

I have never felt disappointed like that moment in my entire life. I realized that my manager was right, I am not lucky enough to become financially free. Leaving my job was a foolish decision to make. And there was no way to reverse things back.

The owner of the building knocked on my door to remind me to pay the rent. This was a terrible experience for me. I got all the imaginations of the possible scenarios that may happen. What if I will live as a homeless? How can I deal with this unbearable situation?

As he knocks on the door and his voice started to get raising, I opened it.

He asked me to pay the rent, and I replied while touching my neck that I do not have enough money currently, I wish you could understand my situation.

But he said that he doesn't care and If I didn't pay the rent, he would kick me out after 3 days.

And during these three days, I tried to reach people to borrow me money, but unfortunately, everyone refused to help...

Now it is the morning of the third day, I woke up to the sounds of the cops knocking on my door.

I opened the door and the owner of the building was with them, and I begged the owner to give me just 1 day to sell my stuff, and thankfully, he accepted.

I sold all my stuff and furniture except my laptop.

Thankfully, I had my car so I can live in it instead of on the streets. I jump into the car. And I thought about how foolish I am that I got myself into this situation.

Then I decided to calm myself by eating some big mac from Mcdonald's.

I drove to Mcdonalds, parked the car, entered the restaurant, and as I am entering, I found my old friend, Jordan.

We spoke to each other and had a seat together, and during our speech, I told him my situation. I told him that I tried to launch my own business, so I left my job. I made my own business which is fitness coaching, but no one purchased my program. I showed him the website and all the stuff, then Jordan said he is impressed by it! It has a ton of value and many people actually want to benefit from these materials.

I said: but why has no one bought it?

He said: Bro, You must advertise the product you are selling to people. Advertising is a major element when it comes to business. Listen, I heard about a team of people who help beginner entrepreneurs advertise their products. And many said that they guide you to make sure your product is being widely sold and bringing you revenues. You might need to check them out.

He gave me their website and was skeptical if it was a scam or not and I wasn't having enough money, but I found they have a 30 days refund guarantee and said they would personally check my situation until I succeed at selling my product. I found it a win-win. I had no other choice anyway and I can get my money back, so why can't I try?

And from that moment, four days after I subscribed to their program, I was shocked to see my first sale!!!

Then another few days went by and got many many sales that I have never imagined I could get before.

I just realized that I was right and my manager was wrong. success happens by hard work, not luck, but although hard work is a key to success, it is not the only key to determining success, it is essential to do the right approach as well which is something I have never paid attention to.

I didn't know guidance is necessary when it comes to launching my business. and It is necessary to get guidance from people who are already successful and that's what I found from the team of experts who helped me.

if you want to be guided by our team of experts to help you achieve your dreams and get out of the 9 to 5 as fast as possible, we would be eager to help you. We want you to become financially free because we also went into the same situation as you. We are excited to meet you:

Click the link here to subscribe

Naif Albaghli

There are many people who want to improve their physique for whatever purpose, and I took that as an opportunity. I made a website, recorded each type of exercise I know, and made these recorded exercises as a paid program

I went into my desk, opened my laptop and searched for busine

I didn't accept working on a 9 to 5 for the rest of my life, so I decided to quit my job and live my dream life of being a businessman.

I went back home after I submitted my letter of resignation and after that, I opened my Laptop, and terror seized me quickly!

Now that I quitted my job? What can I do?? I am stupid af. Why didn't I just wait until I launch my own business first, then quit my job?

I had to search for business ideas on the internet and found an idea that resonate with my hobby, fitness and It was fitness coaching.

I spent 14 hours each day trying to launch my fitness coaching program as soon as possible. Day by day, I was working consistently all the time, and 1 month later... It is time to pay my rent and I only got 0$.

The owner of the building threatened to kick me out if I didn't pay my rent, so I had no other choice but to sell all of my stuff in my apartment except my laptop because I needed it for my business project.

I spent 23 days working on my fitness program outside while sleeping on the streets at night in the winter. The harsh snowy conditions outside with no shelter have motivated me to do something to get myself out of this situation as fast as possible. And also I will no longer have enough money to feed myself left soon.

It is now the 23rd day, and I got only 4$ in my wallet, but thankfully, I finished my fitness coaching program

Now it is a matter of time and people would come to me, right?!...

Unfortunately, that was not the case. I found that no one has EVER come to me...

The disappointment I felt was unimaginably hard to describe. with puffy eyes and tears I had no choice but to cry like a little child... And while I was crying, by coincidence, one of my old friends found me

My friend: Mike? What are you doing here? What happened?

Me: I made a foolish mistake by quitting my job. thinking that I am able to rely on myself and become financially free, but I realized this is all fake. Now I am homeless with nothing in my hands

My friend: I am sorry that you have gone through all that, but what was your plan as an alternative source of income to your job when you decided to quit my job?

Me: I found that many people want to lose weight and build an aesthetic physique, and thought I can help them with that. I made a unique website that I spend weeks working on, but no one scheduled a coaching call with me.

My friend: I understand how hard it is to launch your own business. I have gone through all of that myself, but I eventually, I made it

Me: You really launched your own business? How come?

My friend: I realized that the secret to success in business is to choose the right approach, and therefore, whenever you found yourself never making any real progress, that's because you are using the wrong approach.

Me: So What is the right approach I must follow then?

My friend: You can know the right approach, by asking for guidance from those who succeed. In your case, you made a valuable product, but you didn't advertise it. I will give you 50 bucks and I want you to try to find guidance from experts on coaching.

He gave me 50$ to help me in my situation and went away wishing me good luck.

I contemplated the idea of learning from people who are experts and realized that it is not actually wrong to rely on the help of others.

Then I found an email ad where they guide people step by step on how to advertise coaching programs until they succeed.

They said they would connect with me and work hard to make me get sales as soon as possible.

The ad says that if you didn't receive revenues on your products and found our program not beneficial, you could cancel anytime with no questions and have a 100% refund guarantee.

I found this ad very helpful and I have nothing to lose since I can receive my money back.

I subscribed to this program for 25$. And after only 5 days of dedication and learning how to manage ads with the help of the kind people I talked with, I got my first sale!!

My friend was right! If you want to learn something, you must learn from experts who are specialized in that thing.

That's how Mike got to where he is now, and I believe you can as well.

If you want to connect with experts who know how to market products, click the link below. You can purchase the subscription with a 30 days guarantee.

I wish you good luck!

Regards,

Nayef Albaghli

Third e-mail

Subject: The single necessary factor for your business SUCCESS.

The feeling you get when you make a product and try to sell it to people, but no one even looks at it

The feelings of despair and disappointment, when you feel the universe decided that winning is forbidden for you.

Here is where you are more likely to throw the towel, get back to the 9 to 5 and never make real progress in your life.

Do you think these are the characteristics of a high-value person?

One that women would obsess over and men would rely on for guidance?

Or Just a low-value male who decided to give up because he doesn't know the right approach to success?

The choice is yours.

Either receive guidance on how to reach people with the help of our team of experts with a 30 days full refund guarantee and overcome this obstacle that prevents you from being finally the man you always wanted to be.

Or stay where you are, and take no risks because you prefer comfort over being a man, with no progress in life, no respect from others, and no freedom.

There is actually no growth without taking action, my friend.

But again, the choice is yours.

Click this link to subscribe.

Naif Albaghli

