

24yo, living in northeast Poland

Looking for a long-term life partner living in EU, 20-32yo.

I do software in work and personal projects (5y), interested in applied rat stuff. Deep in internet culture, socializing/dancing in VR every weekend – it's a great place to get to know each other first.

Non-negotiables:

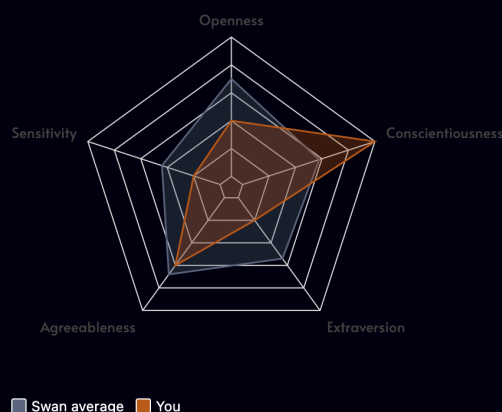

I've already kinda-raised my brother, I don't want children.

I value comfort and would like to live in a nice place, so if you don't own a nice apartment or a house (like I do) then you will have to move into mine or we can live e.g. 50-50 in both if it's similar, or I can move to yours if it's nicer and you can't sell it (I can't for 10+y).

189cm/78kg

Kinda-accurate assesments:

You're a considerate and accommodating individual, always going out of your way to make others comfortable and avoiding any harm or insult, while maintaining a calm and confident demeanor and embracing the familiarity of your surroundings and interests.

- You're at your happiest in familiar environments.
- You're dependable, with an eye for detail and commitment to seeing things through.
- You're a bit of an introvert and prize your independence.
- You're not afraid of speaking your mind, but you've got a sense of social grace and you don't seek out conflict.
- You're a happy person and not easily stressed. If something goes wrong, you'll find a way to learn from it.

Get shareable image

How you approach relationships

At heart, you're a pragmatist. Love is a matter of the head as much as of the heart, and you're not holding out for a soulmate: you know that what relationships really need is patience and commitment, and you're willing to put the work in to build something that lasts. You place less emphasis on sex and physicality than others.