Anthem Lyrics “Of Love and Understanding”

Words: Kenneth Patton, Music: Betsy Jo Angebrannt

© 1988 Unitarian Universalist Association

What more have we to give, to give to one another
than love, than love and understanding?
We will make a world for the gladness of children.
We will gather a store of love for youth.
We will find useful tasks for their hands,
that they may learn to create with joy.
We will gather a store of love for parents.
We will gather a store of love for the aged,
whose days have been wrung with our follies and hurts.
Wisdom must be made the implement of love;
and love the guide and repairer of knowledge.
What more have we to give, to give to one another
than love, than love and understanding?
